Local Veterans' Day events

By JON BISHOP

WILMINGTON- Veterans' Day services in Wilmington begin 11 a.m. in the parking lot of the 4th of July building with a procession to the Town Common. The services will feature Veterans' Agent Lou Cimaglia, state Senator Bruce Tarr, and state Representative James Miceli as speakers and the Wilmington High School band.

Tewksbury Memorial High School will hold its annual Veterans' Day Ceremony on Thursday, November 10 at 9:00 a.m. in the gymnasium. They will look to recognize local veterans, as well as faculty who have served.

The band will play, students will sing, and the winners of the sponsored essay contest will read their pieces.

A reception, which will be held in the library, will immediately follow the ceremony.

The Town of Tewksbury will run its annual Veterans' Day celebration on November 11 at 11 a.m. on the Town Common.

Donald Sheehan will lead those in attendance in an opening prayer.

Speakers include former Selectman and Chair of the Patriotic Activities Committee Jerry Selissen and Board of Selectmen Chair Todd Johnson. The guest speaker of the morning will be Major Stephen Flanagan—a Tewksbury local and a veteran of both Iraq and Afghanistan. He will speak on veterans who have struggled in their return home and how they can be helped.

At the conclusion of the ceremony wreaths will be placed on war memorials to honor the dead.

The Tewksbury PAC will hold its annual Veterans' Day Fundraiser at the Tewksbury Country Club on November 18 from 7 - 11 p.m. Tickets are $15 and, throughout the night, various items will be raffled off. Food and drink will be served.

"We've been doing this for awhile now." The Friends of the Tewksbury PAC took this on awhile ago, said Jerry Selissen, chair of the Tewksbury Patriotic Activities Committee, due to budget issues within the town.

"I, personally, am extremely proud of my organization and what these folks are doing to make this happen."

Applebee's Restaurant on Main Street in Tewksbury will be offering free meals to veterans all day. For more information call 978-987-4644.

The King Triton Wash on Main Street in Wilminton will be offering free car washes to veterans and active duty military all day Friday. For more information call 978-658-3100.

Dear Soldier..

Letters from the Woburn Street School

By MARCY RAGUCCI

WILMINGTON - On Friday, November 11th, we celebrate Veterans Day and remember the soldiers from every generation who sacrificed much, even their own lives, so that each and every citizen in the United States of America can live in a free country. In October and November, the children at the Woburn Street School in Wilmington have been expressing their appreciation to some of our courageous wounded soldiers by writing letters to them.

Dear Soldier letters have been written by both second and third grade classes at the Woburn Street School under the direction of their teachers to be delivered in person to wounded soldiers along with iPods. The letter writing began with a conversation between a teacher at the Woburn Street School, Kristen Tozza, and Paul Cardello, Chairman of iPods for Wounded Veterans.

Kristen Tozza who teaches second grade class recalls, "Mr. Cardello contacted me and said that he needed 75 letters written to severely injured soldiers. Since I don't have that many students in my class, I asked a few other teachers -- Mrs. Cataldo, Mrs. Cote, and Mrs. Gordon -- to help."

Cardello had asked the kids to write their letter with the opposite hand they usually use so that they could understand the difficulties a lot of the soldiers have to overcome. It gave them a better idea of what it felt like to be even somewhat disabled.

"We asked the children to start off their letters by telling the soldiers that they were school children in Wilmington, MA. Then the class should write something about how they understand that the soldiers are protecting our country so that we are all safe in school. In the letter every child wished the soldier would feel better soon, enjoy their new iPod and be back with their family soon."

Tozza described the actual letter saying, "The cover of the letter was in card form. The children decorated it in red, white and blue and used a patriotic theme like the 4th of July. We asked the students to draw a picture of what a real soldier looked like but weapons could not be in the pictures and the soldier should look healthy, too. We wanted everything in their letters to be very positive."

The cards were delivered along with iPods to severely wounded veterans at Walter Reed Hospital in Bethesda, Maryland. It was extremely important that they were delivered in person so Edwin Williams, Quartermaster of VFW Post 2458 in Billerica and Paul Cardello of Wilmington traveled to the hospital. Representative Jim Miceli and his assistant, Nancy Cadigan, helped the board members of iPods for Wounded Veterans to get security clearances enabling them to meet the soldiers.

After the letters were written and delivered along with the iPods to the soldiers, Cardello visited all four classrooms on behalf of the wounded soldiers to thank them for their letters. Cardello brought several gifts of appreciation to each class like a poster to hang up on the wall, books on Arlington Cemetery, a Presidential ruler as well as other mementos.

Right now all four second-grade classes are working on a banner in the

Longwood Travel offers great service and travel products

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - With winter looming in the months ahead, and the snowy "treat" in last week's storm, many New Englanders are starting to think about warm getaways and family vacations not only for Christmas gifts, but for sanity maintenance as well.

Longwood Travel has been a bastion in the travel industry for 38 years, providing local businesses and residents with consistent high quality service and products. The Crier talked to owner Bruce Mandel and his leisure travel specialist, Tony Guay, about how the industry has changed in the last twenty five years, particularly following the challenges brought after the events of 9/11 and the floundering economy in recent years.

The resilience of Longwood Travel, in an age where the Internet has shuttered many travel agencies, speaks to expertise and service that Bruce and Tony offer to customers.

"When we book trips for people, we aren't looking for a one-time sale. We are looking for clients for life," said Mandel. "We are looking for family members and friends to call us because they had a good experience."

Mandel points out that full service travel agencies, like Longwood Travel, keep working after the sale, unlike web-based bookings.

Mandel relayed a story of a group that he booked on a cruise with two early nights at a hotel booked in Puerto Rico. One member of the group thought the price was too high and booked her own hotel through a well-known travel website. When she got to Puerto Rico though, she found out her hotel had been torn down a month before. Booking through a travel agency prevents those kinds of major mistakes.

All-inclusive resorts in warm climes are among the hottest destinations for New Englanders looking for

Officer Maguire's death:

Brother troubled over early releases

By STAFF REPORTS

BOSTON - The brother of slain Woburn Police officer Charles Maguire, retired from Woburn District Court's Probation Department, was on the airwaves over the weekend decrying the state's leadership on moving to allow even more convicted criminals back on the streets.

Officer John "Jack" Maguire was killed by a released convict, Dominic Cinelli of Woburn, in front of Kohl's in East Woburn on Washington Street last Dec. 26.

A WCVB Challenge Team unleashed an investigation that revealed a new push on Beacon Hill to release some of Massachusetts' most dangerous criminals even earlier has sparked outrage and anger from victims' families and advocates.

On television, Charles Maguire, a Reading resident, said he was troubled by Team 5's investigation that found nearly 1,000 of the state's most dangerous inmates released from prison early last year for taking classes while behind bars.

Before the killing of Officer Maguire Cinelli was released by the parole board despite three life sentences.

According to parole records, said the WCVB report, Cinelli took classes in public speaking, computers and HIV awareness, which the parole board considered before cutting him loose. For most Massachusetts criminals, taking classes guarantees early release, they said.

"It just doesn't make any sense," said Maguire on television on Friday night and some re-plays on Saturday.

Under current state law, inmates can earn as many

Wilmington's 1st minister, Rev. James Varney

Stayed less than six years

By CAPT. LARZ NEILSON

The ordination of the Rev. James Varney on Oct. 24, 1733 was probably an occasion of what could be called Puritan joy.

By the terms of the Colonial legislature, the town of Wilmington had three years to establish a church, from its incorporation on Sept. 25, 1730.

Rev. Varney's ordination was 37 months from that date. The building of the church was probably complete, and now they had an ordained clergyman.

The amount of money spent on the ordination was lower than that spent in other towns. It seems the people of Wilmington were being prudent.

Much of the background has to be guessed. Wilmington does not have complete records. A review of some material may be worthwhile.

Woburn had 312 persons who were taxed in 1730. This included most of today's Winchester, Shawsheen (Burlington) and Goshen (a large part of Wilmington). When Wilmington was established in 1730, 43 persons were living in the area that had been called Goshen. Soon thereafter, another 82 persons separated to form the parish in Burlington. Woburn seemed to be in a financial quandry.

Woburn owned 2000 acres in what is now Lunenberg. This land was given to the town for the purpose of supporting the pulpit. But no revenue seemed to evolve from that place, and in 1735 the town of Woburn voted to sell the land for 3300 pounds to Ensign Israel Reed, who probably lived in Shawsheen.

The pound of the Colony of Massachusetts was not very valuable currency. Inflation had wreaked its toll. One ounce of silver would buy 28 shillings, there being 20 shillings in a pound. A few years later, (1745) an ounce of silver would buy 45 shillings.

There would soon be a currency known as "new tenor," supposedly worth more money. The older currency then became known as "old tenor."

It can also be noted that Woburn in 1736 paid a Province tax of 244 pounds 15 shilling. What Wilmington paid is unknown.

Politically, Deacon John Harnden seems to have been the number one man in Wilmington, although both Deacon Samuel Walker and Deacon Jeams Tompson had more experience. Walker was a selectman in Woburn for eight years 1720-27 and Tompson in 1728.

The Rev. Mr. Varney was born in Boston in 1706 and graduated from Harvard in 1725. He remained the pastor of the Wilmington church for less than six years, when he was dismissed on account of illness in April 1739.

There is nothing in the Wilmington records to say that he was ill. In a number of town meetings, committees were appointed to "treet" with the Rev. Mr. Varney because (apparently) there were no sermons being delivered from the pulpit. This of course could have been caused by illness. It also might have the result of late or non-existant pay.

He had a "settlement" of 300 pounds when he accepted the ministry of the church, the money to be paid in two years. He was also to receive a salary of 120 pounds a year.

After several years of a partial or total lack of preaching, the town meeting voted in an annual town meeting (March 5, 1738) that the Rev. Mr. Varney's salary not be granted, but be referred to the next town meeting.

The next two lines are a record of the next town meeting, in April. Then there is a reversion in another handwriting, to the town meeting of March 5.

"Voted that it is in the Townes Mind and that it will be Most for the Honour of Religion that ye Reverend Mr. Varney be dismissed from his Ministerial office."

"Voted that Mr. Daniel Pierce be a Committee man and Likewise Mr. William Butter be a Committee man and Likewise Mr. Joseph Lewis by to wait apone the Reverend Mr. Varney to know his mind and Convey to him the Townes mind and make Returne to to Town and Likewise to supply the Pulpit with preaching in the Case that the Rev. Mr. Varney Doth nott (??) Good to Undertake to Supply the Pulpit."

In fairness to Mr. Varney, it must be noted that the meeting of March also voted to defer the money for the town expenses, which would have amounted to 30 pounds. The only money voted was for repair of "hyways," 25 pounds, five shillings.

And on the first day of May in that same year, the town meeting voted that Deacon John Harndin, Jeams Tompson, Samuell Walker, Daniell Pierce and Capt. Kendall Pearson be a committee to "waite opone ye Reverend Mr. James Varney" to Revive (receive?) his account of what ye Towne is still indebted to him, and to make Retorne to ye Towne thereof."

Wilmington was having financial problems. There is no doubt of that.

In August 1733, the town had tried to get back a share of the money used for ordination of the second minister in Woburn. That did not work out very well.

The 2000 acres in Lunenberg was another item discussed in the Wilmington town meeting. No money was forthcoming. Then there was the "Officers Lott" whatever or wherever that was. No revenue was to be had from that lot.

On May 16, 1735, the town had a meeting in which the selectmen were the moderator. That did not happen very often.

The meeting chose Daniel Perce (Pierce) a Representative to the General Court. Mr. Pierce, who lived on Main Street near Butters Row, seems to have been the first representative from Wilmington.

That town meeting also voted to charge delinquent taxpayers and non-resident land owners at the rate of nine pence per acre, for one year.

This type of action seems to have been happening in other towns, about the same time, possibly as the result of some action by the General Court, or of some lawsuit in the courts.

There is no way of telling whether or not the town received any money from the tax it tried to impose.

John Harnden had been elected school teacher in 1734. He may or may not have continued. There is no record.

And in the town meeting of May 13, 1736, it was voted to elect Samuel Dummer as a Representative to the "General Cort." In that same town meeting, the town voted to build a new school, near the church.

Both of these votes ran into immediate difficulty.

Mr. Dummer did not become the representative because of the expense. A "descent" was registered by eight voters, who were against building a new school. Samuell Eams, Thomas Rich, Sr, Samuell Butter, John Jaqueth, William Locker (?) and Thomas Rich, Jr. were against building a new school.

It would seem that there was a comfortable majority in favor of the new school, for it was only a "descent" which was registered.

The Representative question and the new school question must have been lively topics of conversation for the next few days. Nine days later, there was another town meeting. John Harnden was again moderator.

The town reconsidered the vote for representative, because of its inability to pay the costs.

Then the town voted hat "ye school be cept in three branches of town" provided that there was someone who could "provide house to keep school" in those branches.

A third vote appointed John Harndin, Daniel Pierce (for the first time, spelled with an i in his name) and Samuell Walker to be the town committee to the Honorable House of Representatives. It was their duty to show why the town was "in favor of rescinsion of our choyce of Representative."

Wilmington was hurting for lack of money.

When the Rev. Mr. Varney was elected pastor of the Wilmington church, it was not only unanimous, but it was also done by paper ballot.

It would be interesting to know of his subsequent career. His career in Wilmington was not yet finished, as far as the records go.

Rev. Isaac Morrill was ordained as minister in 1741 and remained in the Wilmington pulpit for 52 years.

shape of the USA as a thank you for those gifts. The students are signing their names inside one of the letters USA making it look very nice.

Cardello asked Mrs. Tozza to write more letters to the wounded soldiers, so third grade teachers, Mrs. Martin, Ms. Jablonski, Ms. Jansen, Mrs. Arciero, Ms. Sheehan, Mrs. Owen and Mr. MacDonald happily took on the task of working with their classes to write more letters.

Speaking for the teachers participating in this letter writing effort, Mrs. Martin said, "We talked to our classes about Veterans Day and what all the soldiers did for our country. I was really excited about participating in the Dear Soldier effort and I was really impressed with the children and their thoughtfulness. They showed a great appreciation for these soldiers and what they sacrificed for our country."

Martin added, "The letters that the third grade classes are writing now will go out to the troops before Thanksgiving." Those letters will again be included with iPods distributed to soldiers by the iPods for Wounded Soldiers program.

So, as Veterans Day draws near and then fades away, more of our beloved wounded heroes will feel greatly appreciated and not forgotten from some very considerate school children at the Woburn Street School in Wilmington.

Anyone interested in donating to iPods for Wounded Veterans (a 501(c)3 certified non-profit organization) please contact Chairman Paul Cardello at (978) 658-8743. If you would like to make a tax-deductible donation you can mail it to VFW Post 2458, c/o Paul Cardello, 4 Heather Dr., Wilmington, MA, 01887.

Matthew Cardarelli enrolls at Tufts Univ.

MEDFORD - Matthew Cardarelli of Wilmington was one of more than 1,300 undergraduate students from around the world who began their first year at Tufts University, located in Medford/Somerville, Massachusetts.

"Drawn from 17,130 candidates from all 50 states and more than 100 countries, the 1,317 members of the Class of 2015 are an exciting collection of academic and personal achievement," said Lee Coffin, dean of undergraduate admissions.

Tufts University, located on three Massachusetts campuses in Boston, Medford/Somerville and Grafton, and in Talloires, France, is recognized among the premier research universities in the United States. Founded in 1852, Tufts enjoys a global reputation for academic excellence and for the preparation of students as leaders in a wide range of professions. A growing number of innovative teaching and research initiatives span all Tufts campuses, and collaboration among the faculty and students in the undergraduate, graduate and professional programs across the university's eight schools is widely encouraged.

Of the 5,000 undergraduate students at Tufts, approximately 80 percent study in the School of Arts & Sciences, while the remaining 20 percent are enrolled in the School of Engineering.

Auxiliary Police Open House Nov. 17

WILMINGTON - Residents looking for an opportunity to give back to the community, and serve in police capacity, are encouraged to visit the Wilmington Auxiliary Police open house November 17 at 6:30 pm at the Public Safety Building.

The auxiliary police typically provide night time patrols of public and town owned property, assist with traffic and crowd control at major civic events such as parades and the 4th of July celebrations. Volunteers are also called upon to provide supplementary emergency assistance in times of severe weather or other emergency management functions as necessary.

At the open house residents will learn more about volunteering with the Wilmington Auxiliary Police including an overview of the organization, history, training requirements, membership requirements and responsibilities, and commitment necessary to remain an Auxiliary Officer in good standing, if selected. Applications will be available following the seminar for those that wish to submit one for consideration.

In addition to the application, applicants must also undergo a thorough background check, physical exam, and a psychological exam at the applicant's expense.

Those accepted to start the program must attend the reserve intermittent academy, which takes six months to complete, usually meeting on Saturdays.

Citizens desiring to attend this meeting are asked to contact Lt. Scott Sencabaugh directly to register for the meeting by emailing him at ssencebaugh@wpd.org.

Members of the Wilmington Auxiliary Police will be on hand to answer questions.

INHERITING A SPOUSE'S IRA

A wife or husband is often the sole beneficiary of a deceased spouse 's IRA. Even if the first to die was over 70 1/2 and had begun taking distributions, the inheritor is often able to delay distribution of the funds until he or she reaches 70 1/2. (Of course, the funds are available immediately, too.)

If the surviving spouse retitles the IRA to his or her own name, or even rolls it over to an existing IRA, it becomes that person's IRA—to name new beneficiaries and to delay distribution until age 70 1/2.

If the account stays in the name of the deceased spouse, under the beneficiary rules, the survivor will have to begin taking RMDs by the end of the year following the death. The survivor could name new beneficiaries, but would have to continue taking RMDs based on his or her single life expectancy in the IRS 's Life Expectancy Tables.

Letters to the editor

It's our money

Dear Editor,

On Tuesday, December 6, and Saturday, December 10, Wilmington residents will have the opportunity to vote in favor of education by securing the construction of a new Wilmington High School. I cannot imagine a property owner making a better investment in the town.

Some say that taxes and the cost of living are too high and that the economy is too weak right now to burden residents with a debt exclusion. I've heard the very same argument against every proposed capital improvement for the last decade. So, I ask: when is a good time for such a project? When it's left up to our children to pay for it?

Additionally, the Commonwealth's promised level of reimbursement for the current proposal is not a gift and the funds do not come out of thin air. That is our money. State grants originate from taxpayers' pockets. Should the town vote against the construction of a new high school, it will have essentially voted to allocate much of our hard earned money toward a school construction project in another community. You and I have already paid for new high schools in Tewksbury, Woburn, and elsewhere. Let's finally use the money that we have already paid into the system to benefit Wilmington.

There are a few people currently advocating for a change of location for a new high school. Such an argument is a distraction and nothing more. It is a handy method for an attempt to derail a well-thought out plan that has been detailed at multiple public hearings. Building a new high school at the current Church Street location has enjoyed the overwhelming support of the professional consultants, the High School Building Committee, and the vast majority of residents who have attended the public hearings. To posture an argument against the current proposal at this late date in the process has the appearance of obstructionism.

I urge residents to come out and cast votes in favor of a new Wilmington High School.

Sincerely,
Stephen Bjork

Local Heroes says thanks

Dear Editor,

On behalf of Local Heroes I would like to say, Thank you. Local Heroes celebrated its seventh anniversary last Wednesday night. The Local Heroes volunteers have met every week since November 3rd, 2004 to pack and send care packages overseas to our brave men and women serving in Iraq and Afghanistan (14,353) to date. Local Heroes has also been able to support so many families back home with; heating fuel, home repairs, groceries, travel expenses to Walter Reed Hospital , Bethesda Hospital and Holiday gifts for children while mom or dad are serving overseas. We are 501 (c) 3 non-profit, all of the members of the Board of Directors serve on a volunteer basis, receiving no salary, compensation, or expenses. The main reason we have been so successful is because of so many generous individuals, companies and organizations that have been with us since the beginning. Local Heroes have run fundraisers every three to four months to continue supporting our troops, in 2010 alone Local Heroes spent over 42,000 dollars in postage. Because of the generosity of so many an "idea" became a reality that has been truly amazing.

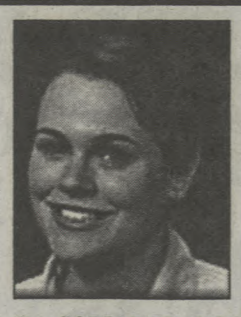

I would like to thank the Wilmington Knights of Columbus, Tewksbury Knights of Columbus, Wilmington/Tewksbury Elks, Infra-Red Band, The Jazz Factory Orchestra, UTZ Snacks, Total Air Supply Inc., Pier Fish, The Wandell family, The Ahern Family Charitable Foundation, Design's by Don, Triton Car Wash, Wilmington and Tewksbury 99's Restaurant's, The Fisher family, Mr&Mrs Joe Long, Mr. Bob Lynch and Rocco's Restaurant.

These are just a few of so many wonderful supporters. I would be remiss if I did not thank my family. My wife Marion, and my children Louie, Nick and Brittany have been along side me from the very beginning, supporting what we believe a noble cause.

Please pray for the safe return of all our brave men and women now serving, and remember all those who have served this Veterans' Day.

"Every second of every day...there is a soldier protecting our way of life...God bless them."

By JOMARIE O'MAHONY

We are coming up on the most wonderful time of the year! Originally, I was going to save the shoveling suggestion for December but given our pre-Halloween flurries this year, I am starting with that one! Given the unpredictable nature of our weather, now is a great time to reach out to someone who may need some extra assistance with getting ready for the winter- helping getting the leaves off the ground, cleaning up any debris from the turbulent weather we have had and getting things ready for the snow are all great ways to show some kindness as a family or an individual to a neighbor, friend or family that you may believe needs some extra help.

Other ways to begin to prepare for the winter may be to make sure you have a library card to your local library. With the winter months coming, now is a great time to consider creating a family book club with your children and/or elderly relatives and friends. You can ask your children's teachers or the librarians for book suggestions and this is a great way to have some family fun time. You can also have a movie night where you watch movies with a certain theme or actor (when my husband was in Korea for a year, I decided to watch every Cary Grant movie ever made) and talk about them with your kids or family.

If you are a Wilmington resident, I would ask that you make sure to register to vote prior to November 16th. There is an important election in December to try to get a new high school in town and what better way to show kindness to your community than to participate in your civic duty of making sure you cast your vote (however you may choose to vote). Sometimes the greatest acts of kindness we can demonstrate to our children and family is to undertake the responsibilities we have as community members to support our community (Yes, in December, I will be asking you to vote and make sure your children are with you, if possible, so that they can be a part of the process!)

Finally, there is Thanksgiving. There are so many opportunities this time of year to show kindness to another that I am certain I am not going to be able to tell you all of them! Organize a neighborhood food drive to support the food pantry or one through your family. Ask everyone coming for Thanksgiving dinner to bring some canned food that can then be brought to the food pantry.

Organize a "giving thanks" night where you have your kids write notes of thanks and gratitude to our local safety personnel, teachers, coaches, anyone in their lives that deserve thanks (including you!) You can take that time to write some notes to relatives and friends that you don't get to see regularly.

As your family gathers for the holidays, encourage your children to share their thanks with family members and ask them for ideas in how to share that thanks with others. Begin going through clothing and toys to pass along before the December holidays so that families in need will have extra at the holidays (and you will free up space for any of your new treasures).

My hope for you this November is that you wake up every morning and think of something that you are thankful for and remind yourself of that thing throughout the day. Have your children share something they are thankful for as they get ready to go to school and keep a list on the refrigerator.

I wish you all many Thanksgiving blessings and, as always, please share your ideas of stories with me at jomarie0525@yahoo.com.

Education is more than a building

Dear Editor,

This letter attempts to address the concept that a new high school will result in better education. I believe education is not only one of the most important aspect of our children's lives but also the corner stone of democracy. Our forefathers knew first hand that the biggest obstacle to democracy is ignorance, hence the education requirement. When so-called education advocates embrace someone being removed from a meeting because he brought up public pensions, relative or not, is ignorance. When selectmen and school committees, supposed education advocates, eliminate public comments from their agendas, more ignorance.

Proponents say it is all about the kids, they deserve a good education, and they deserve a new building. So far, the only real substance to me for improvement after spending 83 million is we might actually have a special Ed program of our own and air quality will be improved, assuming promises that the new HS will have an HVAC system will be honored. I know I am not the only parent that remembers the AC promise for the new Middle School (MS). For the record several features were "cut" from the MS and the "savings" were transferred to the Public Safety Building. This is what we call good fiscal management in Wilmington.

New buildings do not necessarily beget better education. Example: the Middle School. Even in hindsight I would still vote for the new MS. Unlike the HS, It was a dire situation. I do not believe we achieved the results we envisioned. One argument for the new HS is to build better science/tech labs. As with the AC, this was a carrot dangled for the MS. Unfortunately, another broken promise. I now have two in college, and one at the HS. Brand new labs at the MS, yet the two in college only had a few science labs and the one in HS never had a lab. Fund the programs we have! The impact is seen in our test scores.

I hate having to use standardized testing; unfortunately it is one of our only measuring sticks right now.

Warning: Do not read if you can't handle reality!

2011 MCAS Results: Middle School (MS) science/tech scores went from: advanced 2 (MS) to 15 (HS), proficient 33 (MS) to 57 (HS) - needs improvement 51(MS) to 22 (HS) - warning/failing 15 (MS) to 5 (HS). IN fact, the HS out preformed the MS and elementary schools across the board not just in Sci/Tech. See for yourself go t o http://www.doe.mass.edu/.

Based on the current mindset, these numbers indicate that the HS should be the only building left standing.

Our future depends on our children; our children depend on their education. One of my children struggled through school. There was not a "team" meeting from 2nd grade up that medication wasn't suggested. I always responded not an option. Due to my own ignorance I allowed that child to be put into the "B" classes from the MS to the HS. I didn't understand higher education was not an objective. "B" classes had freshmen, sophomores and juniors. Not acceptable. The next year I would not agree with the "B" assignment. The school wanted me to sign waivers saying they knew what was in the best interest of my child, like I would sign that bull. It wasn't easy but worth while things are hardly ever easy and I believed in my child even though the school did not. Shame on them, especially the MS teachers, they know who they are. FYI -That child received a four-year $48,000 scholarship to a great college. Advice to others, question the professionals especially when they seem to lack vision!

New infrastructure does not guarantee good education like a new house doesn't guarantee a good home. It is superficial. Education shouldn't be pie in the sky, but about good teachers, good programs, and funded programs. It is about valuing individuals, not developing just another brick in the wall. It is about creating lifetime critical thinkers. Something we all need to work on. I want to support a better high school. If I thought this project would achieve better I would go door to door. If this passes, I believe we are not acting in the best interest our children but perpetuating a false positive as we have done at the MS.

Suzanne Sullivan

Editor's note: the MCAS results in this letter are slightly incorrect. According to the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education's website Wilmington Middle School had 34 percent achieve proficient in the Science and Technology MCAS in 2011, not 33 percent. Likewise, in the warning/failure category the actual number was 14 percent, not 15 percent. For Wilmington High School, 58 percent, not 57 percent, earned proficient, 23, not 22 percent, ranked in Needs Improvement, and 3 percent, rather than 5 percent tested in warning/failure category. These minor discepancies do not materially change the writer's point.

Veterans thanking veterans

Dear Editor,

Well this is the month of November and this week we will celebrate Veterans Day. A day we thank the veterans for their service. Where Memorial Day is a day of remembrance for those who gave the ultimate sacrifice, Veterans Day is a day of celebration.

I like to think of it also as a day of thanksgiving for veterans. A day to thank the Town Manager and the Selectman and the heads of the various departments, the employees of the town and especially the citizens of Wilmington who have supported the veterans in this town for many of years. Whether they supported individuals, the various clubs such as the VFW Post, American Legion, DAV, and Seabees and different Veterans programs such as Local Heroes, I-pods for Wounded Veterans, or just attended the different veterans celebrations such as the Memorial Day Parade or Veterans Day Ceremony on the Common they were always there. And to the teachers and children in our schools who put on Patriotic plays or shows for the veterans or write letters to the wounded soldiers in hospitals, a big thank you.

So on November 11th come to the Wilmington Common, participate in the ceremony, thank a veteran for the freedoms we enjoy, but also allow a veteran to thank you for your continued support.

We have a tendency to forget the sacrifices our families, love ones, and children made while we veterans were away. They had to raise the family, put clothes on them; see that they got an education, fed them and had a roof over their heads. Maybe they were not veterans in the real sense but to me they were soldiers of the home front and had to endure hard times as well. They kept the home fires burning and safe for us to return to, so they deserve a big thank you from every veteran as well.

So enjoy Veterans Day. You all deserve it.

Let's Hear it!!

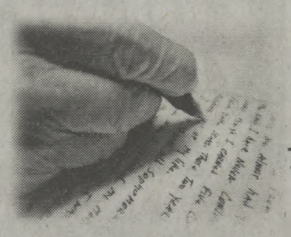

Your Two Cents...

Thumbs up to Santa Maria Pizza for hosting a Strings Attached fundraiser on Nov. 14th and 15th. Wouldn't it be great if every restaurant in town did one of these. It's a win, win, win!

Thumbs up to both John Bonish and Sue Rogers for well spoken articles in the Town Crier dated Nov. 2, 2011. It is nice to hear from an open ear!!! I plan on moving from Wilmington within the next few years, but will always remain a "Wilmingtonite."

Letters to the editor

High School vote is a two step process

To The Editor:

Both the town and the local media have done a good job keeping the community informed about the proposed new Wilmington High School project, as well as the process required to bring it to fruition. We appreciate the attention and focus you have given this matter up to this point and the community looks forward to your continued comprehensive coverage.

By way of a simple reminder, in order to make the new high school a reality in Wilmington, the Town must first vote "YES" to the referendum question on the special election ballot on Tuesday, December 6. A majority "YES" vote is required on this question to move forward with the project. There is still time to register to vote by contacting the Town Clerk and registering by November 16.

The second step in the process is to attend the Special Town Meeting scheduled for 10:30 AM on Saturday, December 10, and vote "YES" to finance the new high school. A two-thirds vote is required at that meeting in order to finance the project.

Also, we would like to let the community know there will be a rally for supporters of the new high school this Saturday, November 12, at the Wilmington Knights of Columbus. Doors open at 7:00. There will be renderings of the new school as well members of the High School Building Committee available to answer questions. This is an important crossroad for our community and its future, and we hope to see many supporters there.

Sincerely,

Dan Bamberg
Treasurer, WHS 4.0

21st century building does not equal 21st century education

Dear Editor;

At the October 26, 2011 Wilmington School Committee meeting, it was stated that 50% of 8th graders at the Middle school were in the warning or needs improvement section of the math MCAS score results. This represents a 13% increase in the number of students who are deficient from the previous test. This is perplexing to the school committee because this happened in a 21st century education facility known as the Wilmington Middle School. How can this happen with such modern bricks, metal studs, and drywall? Do we need to knock the school down and build a new one? Will the Town Manager propose a real expensive feasibility study to figure this out? How about a proposition 2 1/2 override? Taxes could be increased, parents could work more to pay them, and spend less time mentoring their kids? Something to consider in this depression-like economy.

Kevin MacDonald
21st century Wilmington tax payer

Editor's note: While I am sure the same point could be made without the sarcasm, Mr. MacDonald's assertions are general. Specifically, with regard to 8th grade MCAS results for English Language Arts 85 percent of students achieved in the Advanced and Proficient categories with 15 percent in Needs Improvement and Warning. In Math, 51 percent of students achieved Advanced and Proficient with 49 percent in Warning and Needs Improvement. Finally, in the Science and Technology/Engineering test 36 percent achieved Advanced and proficient while 65 percent placed in needs improvement and warning. Yes, the science and technology scores equate to 101 percent. All numbers are according to the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education.

Note to Letter Writers

The week prior to an election, the Town Crier will not print letters to the editor on the topic appearing on the ballot or the warrant for town meeting or in relation to the question.

Since the Special Town Election for the proposed Wilmington High School construction project is scheduled for December 6, no letters relative to the project will run in the Town Crier the week prior, which is the November 30 edition.

The last day to submit letters to the editor for publication-relative to the matters on the Special Town Election ballot or the Special Town Meeting warrant is Monday, November 21, NOON. There will be no exceptions to this policy.

Please note that any letters referencing individuals or with factual errors may receive a response the following week. Responses are strictly limited only to the issues of contention. Writers should maintain a respectful tone and submit their name, address, and daytime telephone number.

Thank you,

Vote YES For Technology In The Classroom.

Dear Editor,

Wilmington desperately needs a new Wilmington High School. Perhaps my biggest concern is the fact that the building, itself, gets in the way of students and teachers in their efforts to use technology in the classroom. Some examples, that I'm sure just begin to scratch the surface, are below.

According to some of the district's paperwork submitted to the Massachusetts School Building Authority: "With the technological revolution that we are experiencing in our world, we are also experiencing an educational revolution in the way we instruct our students. Our classrooms were all built before computers, LCD projectors, and other technological media devices had even been invented. The Wilmington High School needs more than two electrical outlets per classroom. In order to increase the number of electrical outlets per classroom, we would also need to add additional circuits and sub-electrical panels."

According to the high school accreditation report: "Electrical issues inhibit the ability to place computers and other technology learning and teaching tools in the classrooms... Wilmington High School houses original electrical wiring. The building's infrastructure and space limitations adversely affect technology implementation. The additional mounting of classroom projectors, for example, is hindered by the condition of some of the ceilings. Students want to utilize more technology in their classrooms."

According to the school system's master plan study: "The wiring and technology equipment rooms are not adequately sized or equipped to support the technology infrastructure and systems required to ensure that the High School operates in a manner consistent with peer institutions. The HVAC is temperamental and the IT staff does not have sufficient office and set up space. The UPS capacity is inadequate." Additionally, the plan highlights the need for upgrades in voice cabling, data cabling, and video cabling, most of which is not of the capacity or configuration consistent with current practices and standards.

As was pointed out at several of the High School Building Committee meetings and public forums, asbestos is present in ceilings and floors throughout the building. "Asbestos becomes an issue when floors or ceilings need to be cut or have objects mounted, limiting our ability to have proper installation of technology and equipment."

This information strongly points to the need for a new Wilmington High School, which will provide the infrastructure, technology, and innovative learning environment that our students need. Vote Yes for a NEW WHS on December 6 and December 10.

Sincerely,
Carin Bennett-Rizzo

Vote YES and maintain High School accreditation

Dear Editor,

Wilmington High School's accreditation status will likely be downgraded if the high school building project fails. Such a "black eye" would negatively affect the reputations of the school system and the town, would have a demoralizing effect on students, parents, staff and alumni and decrease residential property values. Additionally, such a "stain" would put Wilmington's students at a competitive disadvantage when applying to college, would hurt the district's ability to recruit highly qualified teachers and would lead to an exodus of students seeking education outside the district (and thus decrease the town's share of Chapter 70 state aid). As seen recently in numerous Massachusetts school systems and confirmed by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC), Wilmington's bad situation can become much worse, as described above, if voters fail to act.

Wilmington's 2010 NEASC Accreditation Report is clear that a high school building project is desperately needed. The report's chief recommendation is for Wilmington to "complete the study of facilities needs and follow prescribed local and Massachusetts Building Authority process." The report bluntly states, "The school site and plant do not support all aspects of the educational program and the support services for student learning." The report also acknowledges what is generally recognized by most, "A new high school needs to be constructed to meet the on-going effort to provide a 21st century education."

As Superintendent Benton stated at last month's High School Building Committee Public Forum, "Wilmington had NEASC come out last year, and we were awarded accreditation based on the fact that [Wilmington] was showing that we were in the process of making improvements to the facility. Just a month ago, Principal Tracy had to send in all the dates and minutes of all the High School Building Committee meetings and the timeline to making adjustments to the building." As made clear in the Accreditation Report, Wilmington must show significant progress towards meeting NEASC's recommendations by March 2012 with the submittal of its two-year progress report.

Enough with the politics, personalities, and personal vendettas. Wilmington knows what it needs to do on December 6 and December 10. Vote YES for a NEW WHS.

Sincerely,
Jennifer Golen

Coldwell Banker names Grasso Regional VP

Erminio Grasso has been named regional vice president of the Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage Central New England North Region.

Grasso will oversee the company's 15 branch offices within northeastern Massachusetts. He will report to Patricia Villani, senior vice president and general sales manager of Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage.

Prior to his new role, Grasso was the sales manager of the Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage Andover office, where he was responsible for the day-to-day sales and operations of 79 sales associates serving Andover and the surrounding communities in the Merrimack Valley.

"With more than 13 years of experience in sales and project management, Erminio has earned the respect of his colleagues and demonstrated the leadership skills that are necessary to be part of a progressive and dynamic management team," said Rick Loughlin, President of Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage New England. "I am delighted that he has accepted this important new role, and I am confident that he will draw in his extensive knowledge of the real estate industry to guide the North Shore area managers and sales associates to even greater success."

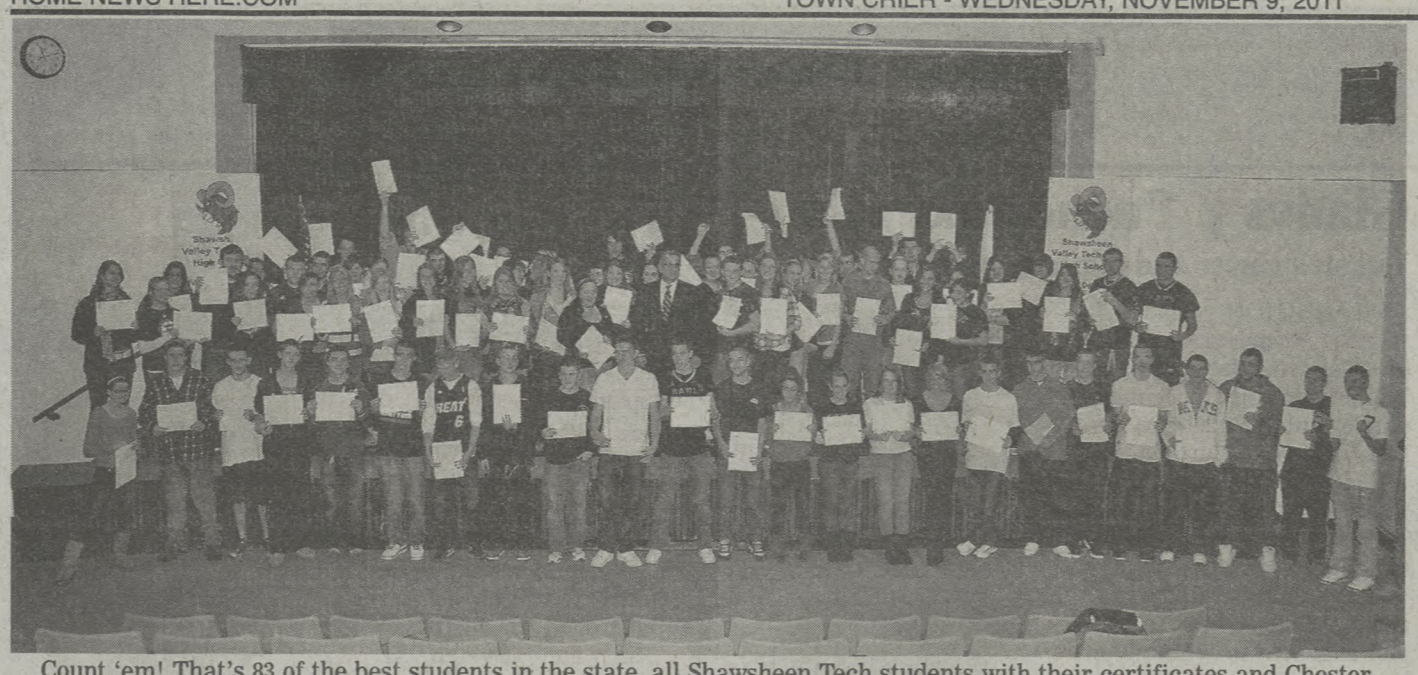

Grasso started his real estate career more than eight years ago as a sales associate in the Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage Tewksbury office. Within about a year, Grasso was promoted to sales manager of the Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage office in Haverhill. He later took over as manager of the company's Andover office.

Grasso was awarded the prestigious President's council award in 2010. This highly coveted honor recognizes managers in the NRT network of more than 700 real estate offices who demonstrate exemplary leadership and management skills. NRT is the nation's largest real estate brokerage company.

"For most of my career at Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage, I have had the pleasure to guide sales associates who have continually amazed me with their professionalism and commitment to providing top-notch service for homebuyers and sellers. I am excited to begin this new chapter in my career and look forward to assisting the regional management team in achieving future goals," said Grasso.

Prior to his real estate career, Grasso worked in the financial services industry for such companies as New England Financial and Scudder Investments.

Erminio and his wife, Michelle, live in East Hampstead, N.H., where he is active in his community. He is a member of Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage Cares, the charitable arm of Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage. Erminio is a 1991 graduate of Wilmington High School, and a 1995 graduate of Merrimack College, with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Management.

Count 'em! That's 83 of the best students in the state, all Shawsheen Tech students with their certificates and Chester.

Students earn Scholarships at Shawsheen Tech

Education commissioner Chester congratulated Tech students

BILLERICA - Eighty-three students at Shawsheen Regional Vocational Technical School earned the John and Abigail Adams Scholarships based on their MCAS achievements last year. Of them, thirty are Tewksbury residents and fifteen are Wilmington residents. State Commissioner of Education, Mitchell Chester, visited the school Friday to congratulate the many recipients.

The John and Abigail Adams Scholarship provides non-need-based state-supported undergraduate tuition waivers to students who qualify, based on standards determined by the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education.

Eligible students score in the Advanced category in either the Mathematics or the English Language Arts section of the 10th grade MCAS test and score in the Proficient or Advanced category on the other subject. They also have a combined MCAS score that ranks in the top 25 percent in their school district.

"I believe this is the largest number of Shawsheen students in a single year to receive these four year scholarship offers to the MA state college system," said Superintendent Charlie Lyons. "My congratulations to the students for their outstanding achievement, and my since thanks to DESE Commissioner Mitchell Chester for honoring them and their parents with his presence."

"The Adams Scholarship is a prestigious award, and these students should be very proud of their hard work and commitment to educational excellence and high standards," said Elementary and Secondary Education Commissioner Mitchell D. Chester in a statement. "Our collective goal is to ensure that all students graduate ready for success beyond high school. I am pleased to congratulate this year's student recipients and wish them well as they pursue higher education."

Higher Education Commissioner Richard M. Freeland agreed.

"Massachusetts needs the Adams Scholars' drive and talent as we continue to grow our state's knowledge-based economy," said Freeland. "Whether a student wants to build web sites or skyscrapers, study medicine or music, they will find a rich and varied array of programs and opportunities at Massachusetts' 29 public college and university campuses. We welcome the Adams Scholars to our community colleges, state universities and the University of Massachusetts."

A total of 18,261 Massachusetts students in the class of 2012 received the merit-based scholarship, an increase of 227 students since last year.

Wilmington students include Joseph Anderson, Richard Cushing, Michael Daley, Taylor Emerzian, Nicholas Jackson, Tyler MacDonald, Catherine Miclette, Alex O'Reilly, Kalli Savvas, Hanah Stebbins, Charlene Sullivan, Alexander Terk, Ashley Walsh, Shannon Walsh, and Nicolette Webber.

Tewksbury students receiving the scholarship include William Abbott, Rebecca Abele, Cameron Ahearn, Joshua Barbera, Elizabeth Bonyman, Samantha Cacciola, Francesco Catizone, Heather DeLucia, Sarah Forest, Justin Fortier, Ryan Frautten, Joseph Glavin, Keenan Goodwin, Joseph Hart, Christopher Illsley, Dayna Jean, Jessica Kenney, Shannon Lavargna, Julia Madden, Francesca Pesantes, Erin Plunkett, Ronald Popp, Jr., Stephanie Powers, Nicole Sessa, Nicholas Sheehan, Bailey Taylor, Joseph Tower, Brianna Tuccinardi, Megan Walsh, and James Walton.

The Adams Scholarship provides a tuition waiver for up to eight semesters of undergraduate education at a Massachusetts state college or university. The scholarship covers tuition only; fees and room and board are not included, and must must be used within six years of a student's high school graduation.

Scholarship eligibility is based on each student's first attempt at taking the grade 10 MCAS tests in ELA and Mathematics. In order to receive the scholarship, a student must be enrolled in a Massachusetts public high school in his or her senior year. Students who qualify for the scholarship will receive award letters and further information this fall.

In order to continue receiving the Adams Scholarship, a student must: (1) continue to enroll full-time at a public higher education institution; (2) maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.0 on college work; and (3) annually complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

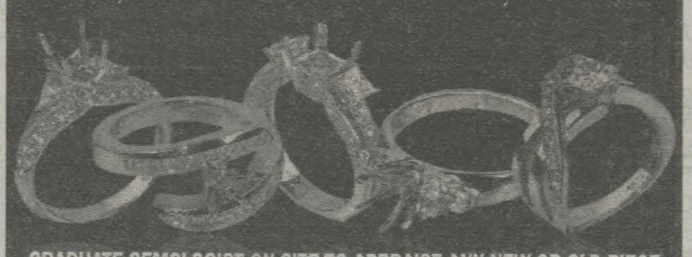

The Adams Scholarship is the state's only merit-based tuition waiver program, and was established to help families pay for college, create an incentive for students to push themselves academically, and encourage them to pursue higher education in Massachusetts. For more information on the Adams Scholarship, visit the Department's website at http://www.doe.mass.edu/mcas/adams.html.

OBITUARIES

Vito Joseph Precopio

Window Dresser for S. S. Pierce' WWII veteran

WILMINGTON - Vito Joseph Precopio, age 89, of Wilmington, died Sunday, November 6, 2011, at the Wilmington Health Care Center. Vito was born, raised, and educated in East Boston, MA, he was the son of the late Leo and Mary (Sweeney) Precopio.

He was inducted into the United States Army on November 3, 1942. Vito served overseas and was a Medical Technician with the Det. Medical Department 86th General Hospital. Vito received many commendations for his service and was honorably discharged on February 12, 1946, returning home to East Boston.

Prior to retiring, Vito worked as a Window Dresser for the S. S. Pierce Company in Boston as well as several other retail companies.

He married Elizabeth M. Wirth 56 years ago and the couple lived in Allston for a few years before moving to Wilmington over 50 years ago. Vito and Elizabeth were members of the Wilmington Senior Center.

In his spare time, Vito loved to fix things and was a "Jack of all trades", he enjoyed watching the Red Sox, and he was a good cook.

Vito was also an animal lover and helped them whenever he could.

Vito is survived by his wife Elizabeth M. Precopio. He was predeceased by his parents and many brothers and sisters.

Family and friends gathered at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington on Wednesday, November 9th at 10:00 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass in St. Dorothy's Church, Main Street (Rte. 38), Wilmington at 11:00 a.m. Interment with Military Honors took place in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Memorial donations in Vito's name may be made to the Wilmington Senior Center, 15 School Street, Wilmington, MA 01887.

Gladys J. Puchowski

Talented singer and dancer; enjoyed gardening

WILMINGTON - Gladys J. (Galka) Puchowski, age 85, of Woburn, formerly of Wilmington, died peacefully on November 7, 2011, at the Lahey Clinic in Burlington.

Gladys was born at home in Wilmington on November 12, 1925, she was the beloved daughter of the late Anthony and Julia (Pulkowska) Galka. Gladys was raised and educated in Wilmington and was a graduate of Wilmington High School.

Gladys moved to Woburn in 1960, where she and her husband Thaddeus raised their two daughters. Gladys was very family oriented, she came from a large family and extended family, and she always enjoyed getting together on holidays as well as the other family celebrations.

Gladys loved all kinds of music, she was a talented singer and dancer. Gladys also liked to paint, garden, shop, and she enjoyed going to the beach.

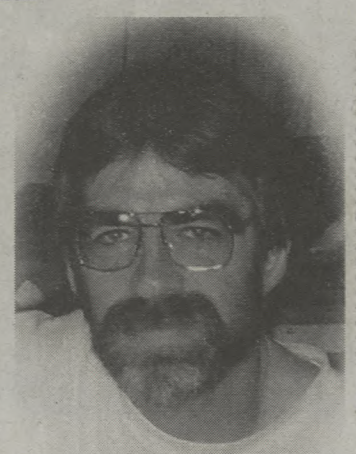

Gladys was very close to her daughters and grandchildren, she was very proud of their accomplishments and loved them unconditionally, they will truly miss her.

Gladys was the beloved wife of the late Thaddeus M. Puchowski and the late Edward F. Buzyk, devoted mother of Julie Gabrielski of Wesley Chapel, FL and Lisa Malone and her husband Leonard of Billerica, loving "Grammy" of Matthew and Libby Gabrielski and Jason and Eric Malone, dear sister of Thomas Galka of Wilmington, Francis Galka of Winchester, Betty Chisholm of New Hampshire, and the late Adam, Waclaw "Vut", Peter, Joe, and Alice Galka, Sophie Stachelek, and Helen Dango. Gladys is also survived by many brothers and sisters-in-law, nieces and nephews.

Family and friends will gather at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington, on Saturday, November 12th at 11:00 a.m followed by a Graveside Service in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilm-ington at 12:00 noon. Are you in favor of a new WHS?

Attend the New WHS Rally Saturday

WILMINGTON – Proponents of construction for a new Wilmington High School are holding a rally at the Wilmington Knights of Columbus Hall (located directly behind St. Thomas' Church on Middlesex Avenue) on Saturday, November 12.

The evening begins at 7:00 p.m. and runs through 11:00 p.m. Stop by the Rally For A New Wilmington High School to enjoy light refreshments, music, a cash bar, and the company of fellow proponents of a new high school. You must be 21 or over to attend this free event.

At the Rally, you will have the opportunity to learn everything you need to know about Wilmington's new high school proposal. Ask questions of members of the High School Building Committee, view renderings of the new high school, and take campaign literature home. You may also pick up your very own "Vote YES for a NEW WHS" lawn sign and lapel sticker to show your support for providing a 21st century education to Wilmington's future.

As a reminder, there will be a special town election on Tuesday, December 6, and a special town meeting on Saturday, December 10, determining the fate of the new Wilmington High School proposal.

Shawsheen Tech seeks degree options

Lyons wants to expand adult classes

By JON BISHOP

BILLERICA - In an effort to assist the Massachusetts economy and provide adults with an affordable post-secondary education, Shawsheen Vocational Technical High School will look to offer associate level degrees and respective courses through evening courses.

The idea originally started when Charlie Lyons, the school's superintendent and director, invited Boston Mayor Thomas Menino and Rep. Martha Waltz, the former chair of the legislative Committee on Education to visit the school. Menino did not attend, but Lyons said he was interested because of the uniqueness of the school.

"There's really not many places in the city that are like this," Lyons said.

Lyons said they had a discussion about how the public could be better served by vocational schools.

As such, he helped craft a bill—HR 1082—that would assist in completing the project. In part, it would allow for the examination of the feasibility of vocational schools to grant such degrees, and it would expand state licensing boards to include a representative from Vocational Schools. Most of his students, he said, get credit hours for licensing. But, he noted the Electrical Board's recent decision to increase the required hours for a journeyman license to 8000. This, he said, complicates a student's transition into the working world.

Lyons said having a representative from vocational schools sit on these licensing boards will help ensure the interests of recent graduates are represented.

Overall, Lyons says this bill is about helping Massachusetts.

"There's a real need in Massachusetts for skilled labor," Lyons said. Community colleges, he said, are about open access, but they're not necessarily about retention and performance.

"It just affords an additional training opportunity to the unemployed in Massachusetts," he later added.

As such, he noted Shawsheen Tech's strong academic credentials as a testament to the assistance it could give adults looking to receive an associate's degree.

The bill received unanimous support.

Lyons also added that the bill will not cause a tax increase on residents.

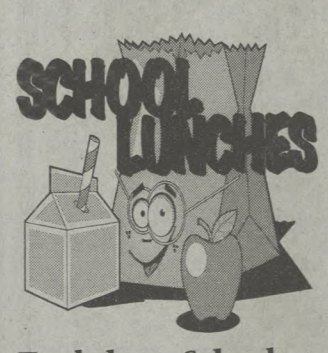

"It makes economic sense, and it doesn't cost anybody any money," he said.

Again, he noted the opportunities that Shawsheen Tech presents for training. It's evident, he said, even at the high school level.

"Students and parents are flocking here in droves because of the opportunities we have," he said.

He noted that college isn't for everybody and, as such, they'd "like to open up [their] doors at night and provide additional opportunities for people."

"We can put America back to work," he said.

Senate Minority Leader Bruce Tarr's statement on the release of congressional redistricting map

BOSTON - Senate Minority Leader Bruce Tarr issued the following statement today in response to the unveiling of the Congressional redistricting map:

The unveiling of the Massachusetts Congressional redistricting maps signals that the committee and the legislature are now focused on perhaps the most important element of this year's effort.

Given the importance of the necessary changes in our congressional districts, transparency and inclusiveness are absolutely critical to the process of approving these maps. What began with extensive public hearings, which centered largely around changes in Congressional districts, must continue now that the time to make decisions is approaching.

Unfortunately the committee did not meet to discuss the maps that were put forth today prior to their release, and that limited the role of the committee members in producing them.

Now, however, as we continue to digest the numbers and the details of the maps presented today, it is imperative that legislators and the public have sufficient time to understand what is being proposed and offer comment before any more decisions are made. Should doing so mean returning to formal session for a day past the scheduled date for the end of those sessions, then we should do exactly that.

Wilmington Youth Soccer Association 2011 Annual General Meeting

WYSA would like to announce the 2011 Annual General Meeting (AGM) will be held on Tuesday November 15th at the Wilmington Middle School Auditorium. The meeting starts at 7:00 and all WYSA members are welcome to attend. WYSA will present the 2011 year in review and present information for the future of the program as well as proposed by-law changes. In addition we will be holding elections for board of directors (BOD) for next year. If you are still interested in running for the board for next year please email Ed Riekstins (president@wilmingtonyouthsoccer.org).

Thank you all for attention and contributions for the 2011 soccer year. We look forward to seeing everyone at the AGM.

All WYSA members are welcome to attend.

Clothing drive fundraiser at the Boutwell School

WILMINGTON - The Boutwell Early Childhood Center will be hosting a clothing drive on November 12, at the Boutwell, from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Bag2School is a company that specializes in good quality second-hand clothing. All bags collected are weighed and Bag2School pays the school $200 per ton (10 cents per pound).

The more the school collects, the bigger the benefit to its fundraising effort.

Bag2School accepts the following items for reuse:
clean clothing
drapes bedding
soft toys
shoes
belts
purses

The Bag2School slogan is "The More We Weigh The More We Pay!" so please, if you have any donation, big or small, keep in mind the Bag2School fundraiser.

Contact Tricia at BoutwellPAC@gmail.com if you would like to drop off clothing earlier than November 12.

Free car care clinic

TEWKSBURY - When it comes to maintaining your car, knowledge is power. Jim Boudreau's Automotive is presenting a car-care seminar to help women navigate the vehicle service experience with confidence.

Jim Boudreau's Automotive is providing excellent practical vehicle maintenance advice for busy women. As part of the ACDelco "Knowledge is Power" program, the free seminar, which is Saturday, November 19, at 9:00. a.m. at 2184 Main Street, Tewksbury, is designed to better acquaint women with vehicle maintenance needs and provide the information they require to take charge of their vehicle service needs with knowledge and confidence.

"We know many women may feel intimidated about vehicle maintenance, and we want to end that," said Jim Boudreau. "We'll provide a fun environment as well as valuable information that will empower them to discuss vehicle repairs and service. A well-maintained vehicle is safer and more dependable, and we don't want women to compromise their safety because they fear the service experience.

The "Knowledge Is Power" seminar covers everything from how to sense potential problems under the hood, to tips on how to communicate effectively with the service consultant. Registration is required as space is limited; for more information or to register, please contact Ed Santoro at 978-658-2120.

Jim Boudreau's Automotive is a family-owned business, offering friendly service in Tewksbury for over 30 years

ACDelco is a global leader in automotive replacement parts and services, offering products for some of the most popular vehicles on the road today. Headquartered in Grand Blanc, Michigan, ACDelco markets automotive replacement parts worldwide under its brand name. For more information, please contact ACDelco at 1-800-ACDelco, or visit the company online at acdelco.com.

Longwood Travel

a place to unplug and unwind. With more than 80 all-inclusive resorts in Mexico alone, few travelers know the properties or the difference between paying $999 and $699.

"That's the advantage that my agency, or any full-service travel agency, can give customers," said Mandel.

"The main thing is, once booked, that's not the end of it for us. We constantly check prices and if the price on the trip goes down, we can usually get it rolled over to the lower price. Once you give your $6,000 to Expedia, do you think you'll see a rebate? No, and no one there will ever check it for you," said Mandel. Both he and Tony tell stories of customers that booked cruises early and as the prices declined as the departure approached, they worked to secure the lower prices for their customers.

"A man booked a cruise last March and the price came down three times. We got him the discount three times. If you book it with a website or directly with the cruise line, they won't tell you when the price goes down," said Mandel. Tony has more stories just like this one.

When Bruce Mandel and his business partner purchased Longwood Travel in April 2001, the firm was predominately a corporate travel agency since the 1980s and 90s. After 9/11 devastated the travel industry, Bruce began to consider other career options, but ultimately decided to reshape his business.

Tony Guay joined the firm in late 2002 after closing his own agency.

"He brought a vast knowledge of leisure travel. Now we are 55 percent corporate and 45 percent leisure travel. We have a much broader focus to what we do," explained Mandel.

"We can do anything," says Mandel. Longwood Travel offers cruises, customized cruise and land packages, adventure travel, ecotourism, corporate travel, family reunion travel, and is an independent ticket agency. When it comes to making changes to tickets, late and cancelled flights, or managing anything that can go wrong, paying a small fee to a travel agency to book the ticket is like an insurance policy.

The firm also is a member of Wedding Creators.com as one of two travel agencies coordinating honeymoons and popular destination weddings. Tony and Bruce pursue upgrades and are ready to help when something goes wrong.

"We call Mexico the week before our clients show up, tell them about our honeymooners, and ask for upgrades. One thing I can guarantee you is that Expedia won't call. That's why we're still in business," said Mandel.

So what's the best time to travel right now? When are the best deals? Well, it all depends on when you want to go, and where. However, Tony says the first two weeks of December and January offer great times to get away from the snow and the cold. For more information, Longwood Travel, 12 Bay Street, Suite 200, Wilmington, offers a free weekly newsletter through their website at LongwoodTravel.net. They also have a Facebook page and can be reached via email at longwood.travel@verizon.net and on the phone at 978-694-1665 Monday through Friday from 8a.m. to 5 p.m. and evenings by appointment. Mandel also holds office hours at a Lowell bridal salon called Chantilly Place on Merrimack Street by appointment on Saturdays.

Christmas books on sale at the Book Store Next Door

WILMINGTON - The Book Store Next Door is holding a "Buy One Get One Free" sale on all its Christmas books during November and December. Thanks to generous donations from the community, we have a large stock of Christmas-themed books by popular authors such as Debbie Macomber, John Grisham and Mary Higgins Clark.

In our non-fiction room we have cookbooks and craft books filled with delicious holiday treats and fun projects you can make yourself or with your family. There are a few books from the Queen of Entertaining, Martha Stewart.

Our Children's Room has a great selection of Christmas books. You'll find something to please the kids on your list, from toddler-proof board books to Berenstain Bears, Junie B. Jones and Arthur books for young readers.

Think about treating yourself to an early Christmas present: two Christmas books for the price of one. Come visit us Wednesdays and Saturdays 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. We are located next door to the Wilmington Library.

The Book Store Next Door owes its success to the good people of Wilmington. The store relies entirely on community donations. Book donations in good condition (nothing damaged, worn or dirty!) are accepted during store hours. (Donations are tax deductible; ask a cashier for a receipt.) The store is staffed entirely with community volunteers. Residents interested in donating their time should pick-up an application at the store or library.

Officer Maguire's death: Brother speaks out

as seven days a month off their sentence. There's no way to find out who they are because Massachusetts law doesn't allow it, said WCVB reporters.

There are 93 different opportunities aimed at motivating inmates to behave. Classes include cooking, cosmetology, auto repair, gardening, art therapy and "writing for the soul."

There's even a four-week course on "gender roles and relationships in the media," noted the WCVB report.

Substance abuse and sex offender treatment also gets inmates a discount off their sentence.

"It should be part of what they have to do when they're in prison," said Maguire, a former probation officer.

Gov. Deval Patrick and state Sen. Cynthia Creem said in interviews that they want to boost that discount to 10 days a month.

"These are bad people. They aren't people who should be earning credits. I don't think the governor gets it and I don't think Cynthia Creem gets it," added Maguire on television.

"I think it's irrational to even waste one moment of energy trying to up good time credits because it makes no sense. It's the wrong direction," said Wendy Murphy, a former prosecutor and advocate for victims.

"Were you aware that some of these classes include writing for the soul and gender role issues?" asked Team 5 Investigates' Sean Kelly.

"Forget about that. The question is how do we get folks ready to re-enter mainstream life," answered Gov. Patrick. "97 percent of people in prison are coming out one day and they come out frequently more dangerous than they went in. You can quarrel all day long about whether the curriculum is appropriate but we have to get people ready to come out."

"I talked to Officer Maguire's brother and he said last week that the governor and Sen. Creem, in his words, just don't get it," said Kelly.

"I appreciate the comment, thank you," Patrick responded.

Creem refused Team 5's requests for an interview.

"There's nobody pushing to protect us, to protect the regular people of Massachusetts. The legislature should be, but they're not moving quickly enough," concluded Maguire.

Parole reform is Maguire's top priority since his brother's death last year. He told Team 5 Investigates he doesn't want anything to undermine those efforts.

Wilmington dancers to perform in The Nutcracker

WILMINGTON - Three Wilmington residents, Lillian Furrier, Marisa Bryan, and Nicolette Webber, will perform in Melrose Youth Ballet's 17th annual production of The Nutcracker on December 2, 3, and 4, 2011 at Memorial Hall in Melrose. These young dancers, ranging in from age 7 - 18, auditioned and were cast in the annual production.

MYB is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization whose mission is to help young dancers realize their potential by being part of a full-scale ballet production that pairs children, young adults and professional dancers on stage together for this annual holiday tradition. For more information on The Nutcracker, visit www.melroseyouthballet.org or call 781-665-4MYB.

Dear Friends,

Merry Christmas!

It's hard to believe that this will be our 12th Christmas Season at Clothingwarehouse.com. My wife, Diane, and I started this on-line business in September of 2000 on our kitchen table in our home. As we look back, we're amazed at the blessings that have been bestowed upon us.

We started so small it's almost laughable to see how far we have come. To help finance the business during the first 3 years, I arose at 2 a.m. and delivered newspapers on an adult newspaper route. We have cried many tears and had many laughs along the way, as we slowly built our business to where it is today.

It blows my mind that during the last 11 years we have received orders from over 200 countries and that we are rapidly approaching our 150,000th customer. I am truly amazed and blessed to have such a loyal customer base!

As a result of our amazing growth over the years, we are now opening an outlet store in our Wilmington, Ma facility. Now through Christmas we will be opening three days each weekend to share some amazing bargains with our local friends. In our retail store, you will find true bargains on hundreds of different items each week.

Hope to see you soon at our new outlet store where you will find true bargains on hundreds of clothing items for men, women and children!

Wilmington High sophomore Drew Foley, shown here collecting a ball away from a Stoneham player, had two outstanding scoring bids down the stretch as the Wildcats dominated the second half but couldn't overtake Stoneham in a Division 2 North sectional preliminary state tournament game.

Boys Soccer team defeated by Stoneham in state tournament opener

Tremendous effort, winning stretch, falls just short

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

STONEHAM -- It was the third time the two teams met - the previous two match-ups were sensational back-and-forth battles, extremely physical, extremely intense, yet both ended in draws. Something had to give in the third round - although the physical play increased that much more, the drama added that much more, it was the Spartans who had to hold on for dear life down the stretch. Despite an excellent chance by senior Zack Anderson in the final minute, the No. 23 seed Wilmington Wildcats' exciting three week ride came to a halt when their new Middlesex League rival, and No. 10 seed Spartans emerged with a 2-1 victory in a Boys Soccer Division 2 North Preliminary round match-up played late Saturday afternoon at Stoneham High School.

Wilmington completely dominated Stoneham throughout the entire second half, including changing formations and adding a third striker to the offense. The Wildcats continued to mount the offensive pressure, including Anderson taking a very strong hit from 25 yards out with under a minute to go.

"The (Stoneham goalie) made a spectacular save," said Wildcat head coach Steve Scanlon. "After he made it, the ball actually popped back up but he was able to cover it up - if we had someone there, we could've tied the game up."

About 15 minutes before that, sophomore Drew Foley had a nice scoring chance as he shot was ricocheted off the keeper's palm. All of that happened after the Wildcats fell behind 2-0 early on, before cracking the back of the net once before the first half break.

"It was a real physical game, much like the previous two times we faced them," said Scanlon. "We were down 2-0 early on and the first goal we gave up was a preventable one. We had a bad clear out and everyone was standing around. Their second goal was off a corner kick and the kick placed a nice ball to the top corner. But after that we played really good. We had a lot of offensive opportunities, but I thought they carried play for most of the first half."

With five minutes to go before the break, Anderson sent a pass in to Colin Doherty, who was able to flick it past the keeper cutting the lead in half and giving Wilmington all kinds of momentum.

"I thought we dominated the second half," said Scanlon. "We were all over them. The last few minutes was extremely physical. We definitely had our chances. Anderson's bid, Foley's bid and then Foley had another one on a free kick that just went under the bar. We had so many chances. I think if we draw any other team, we're probably moving on. In the second half, they managed just one shot - we took eight and had four land on the net. I thought it was a real good game, it's just tough to spot that team a two-goal lead."

Wilmington keeper Luke Foley played well making six saves.

The loss ended a tremendous late season rally by the club. Wilmington was 3-6-2 at one point and needed ten points in its final seven games to make it to the tournament for the sixth straight season. The team was able to accomplish that feat getting red-hot and ending the regular season with a 3-0-4 record.

"That was the scenario we could afford, going 3-0-4 in the final seven games and we did it," said Scanlon. "When I went to the seeding meeting, I heard so many other coaches say that we would be the toughest draw for teams because we were red-hot. I know a lot of teams didn't want to face us in that first round. I really think if we played against anyone else besides Stoneham, we would still be alive in the tournament right now."

Field Hockey team ousted in second round

They lost 11 seniors from last year's state tournament qualifying season and entered a new and much tougher league, so hovering around the .500 mark this season certainly would be a much greater goal accomplished than anyone could have asked for. But for the Wilmington High School Field Hockey team, the program continues to soar and this past season and this past week proved just that.

Last Thursday evening the Wildcats won their second state tournament game in three seasons, as the No. 6 seed dropped the No. 11 seed Marblehead, 3-1, in a Division 2 North first round match-up played at Alumni Stadium. The Wildcats jumped out to a quick 3-0 halftime lead before going into cruise control the rest of the way to pick off the Magicians and sending them home for the winter.

That win gave the Wildcats their 13th of the season, a truly amazing accomplishment, after coming off last year's nine-win season.

"Winning tonight, going on to round two is just ... I can't even describe it," said senior tri-captain Ryanne Newhouse, who scored the team's first goal of the night. "It's awesome how this feels considering we lost in the first round last year. Honestly this season has been so great. It's definitely been a successful season - we had 12 (regular season) wins, so I can't get over it."

However, after the win over Marblehead, the Wildcats faced Middlesex League foe Belmont in the quarterfinal round on Saturday afternoon and were defeated 4-1. Belmont was the No. 3 seed and now sport a record of 15-2-1 before entering the final four of the North Bracket.

But for the Wildcats, winning this first round state tournament game was another step in the right direction for this program, which went over a decade without a tournament victory.

"I think overall it was a great game," said head coach Jodi Campbell. "I don't want to discredit Marblehead because I thought they were a great team. But we were able to score goals and goals win you games. I think Marblehead had some big hits, they were aggressive and I think we just came out really strong right away which is something we never do, and then all of a sudden we have a 3-0 lead at the end of the first half which is what we needed. We always start off slow, but I was impressed with the way the girls started tonight. I think their adrenaline rush was going - it's state tournament time and I think they played to a state tournament level tonight."

The Wildcats started out very strong controlling the play right from the get-go. Wilmington had several good scoring bids before Newhouse scored her fourth goal of the season at the 20-minute mark.

"It was (from an offensive) corner and the ball got deflected," said Newhouse. "I actually had a bad shot on net and it hit the goalie and I got the rebound (and scored). Then we got another quick goal and the third one came right after that."

Just 1:48 after Newhouse's goal, Wilmington made it 2-0. Shelley Sullivan took the ball down the left sideline before making a nice cross pass to the opposite side of the field. Senior winger Cristina Wilson then came storming in off the weak side and deflected the ball into the far right corner for what turned out to be the game winning goal.

Then with 2:25 left in the first half, Wilmington was awarded its third offensive corner of the first half and converted for the second time. Amanda Richards took the inbound pass, dribbled past two defenders and put a nice quick shot on net that beat the goalie making it 3-0.

"That's why we all love corners because it gives you more of a chance to score," said Campbell. "They used to say back in the day that once you get a corner it's an automatic goal and that's clearly not the case anymore. However, it definitely gives you a better chance to score because you have less feet in the circle and less defensive feet in the circle."

Throughout the season this Wildcat team is always been known as slow-starters, but on the opening night of the state tournament before a large crowd, the girls made

Wilmington High senior running back John Parsons, shown here during an earlier game this season, not only scored four touchdowns in the team's win on Friday night, but he surpassed the 1,000 yard plateau for the season. (photo by JoeBrownphotos.com).

Four TDs, four digits now for Parsons

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

With a 38-yard run in the fourth quarter of Friday night's Middlesex Small clash with Watertown, Wilmington High senior running back John Parsons put an exclamation point not just on the game, but on his season as well. And the best part for the Wildcats and Parsons is that there are still two games left to add several more of those exclamation points.

When Parsons broke through the Watertown secondary and sprinted untouched into the end zone for his fourth touchdown of the night with 6:30 left in the game, the score not only extended the Wildcats lead over the Red Raiders to 41-14, it also put Parsons over 1,000 yards rushing for the season, giving him a total of 1,005 on the campaign.

Rushing for 1,000 yards was not a pre-season goal of the Wildcats senior captain, who is also a star linebacker on defense, but he was certainly very happy that his efforts have helped lead to a resurgence by the Wildcats who have now won three games in a row to improve to 5-3 on the season.

"(Reaching) 1,000 yards is a great extra bonus for me," Parsons said. "Going into the season I was really focused on defense so to get to 1,000 is a great milestone, especially since we have been winning."

The 38-yard touchdown run was just part of huge night for Parsons, who ran for two touchdowns, caught a touchdown pass and also returned a kickoff for another score.

Perhaps the most amazing thing about Parsons performance is that it has almost come to be expected by the Wildcats, their fans and even their coaches.

"John's a good player and we expect him to play well," Wilmington coach Mike Barry said. "He has been doing it for us for a long time and we know that we can count on him."

Parsons made his first big impact of the night with a 52-yard touchdown run on the second play of the second quarter, which was a preview of the 38 yard run that would come later, with him breaking through the secondary and out racing all of his defenders into the end zone for a 14-7 Wilmington lead at the time.

But Parsons also got the job done as a receiver for the Wildcats, hauling in a 42-yard pass from quarterback Matt Ferreira to give the Wildcats a first down at the Watertown 27 yard line on a drive that would lead to Wilmington's third touchdown of the game, and later catching a 17-yard touchdown pass that gave the Wildcats a 27-7 lead at the half.

"We really didn't base the game plan on me as a receiver, but we wanted to take some chances," Parsons said. "I just wanted to do whatever I could to help the team."

Parsons helped the team again midway through the third quarter after Watertown had cut the Wildcats lead to 27-14, returning the ensuing kickoff 75 yards for a touchdown to once again give the Wildcats a three touchdown lead.

"That was a huge play for us," Barry said. "They had just pulled within two scores and with the way they can throw the ball, you never know what could have happened, but John made a big play for us like the three year starter that he is."

For the moment all the three-year starter wants to do is keep winning games with his teammates. As they head into Friday night's game at Burlington with the Wildcats having won three games in a row to keep their playoff hopes alive, Parsons is ready to continue to lead his team to victory.

"We knew we had to take it one game at a time and we had to beat Melrose and beat Watertown to have a chance," Parsons said. "We were able to do that and we turned our season around so we hope to bring that same motivation into the Burlington game."

Wildcats blow latest opponent right out of the water

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

It was senior night at Alumni Field last Friday evening when the Wilmington High Football team squared off against Watertown, and appropriately enough it was a pair of seniors who led the way for the Wildcats in the final home game of their careers, sparking their team to a 47-14 blowout victory over their Middlesex League Small School Division rivals.

Led by the senior duo of running back John Parsons who ran for 170 yards to put him over 1,000 for the season and quarterback Matt Ferreira who threw for 92 yards and a pair of touchdowns, the Wildcats broke open what had been a tie game at the end of the first quarter and rolled to victory. The win helps the team improve to 5-3 overall and 3-1 in the Middlesex Small, keeping them in contention for the league crown heading into a key showdown this Friday in Burlington.

With the score tied 7-7 at the end of one quarter it looked like the Wildcats would be put to a stern test by a Red Raiders team that came into the contest with a 6-2 record, but the Wildcats dominated the rest of the game with Parsons scoring four touchdowns overall including two rushing, one receiving and one on a kickoff return.

"I think we only had the ball for about four plays in the first quarter so it was tough to get anything going," head coach Mike Barry said. "But starting in the second quarter we threw the ball real well and we ran it well. We were stuffed a few times, but we were also able to break some big plays."

Senior running back Ed DeLucia made the first big offensive play for Wilmington with a 19 yard touchdown run to give the Wildcats a quick 7-0 lead with 6:18 left in the first quarter after freshman James O'Regan nailed the first of his five extra points on the night. DeLucia's touchdown came on the Wildcats first play after an interception by senior linebacker Killian Smith.

It was the last time the Wildcats would see the ball on offense for quite some time.

On their ensuing possession Watertown went on an impressive 10 play, 59 yard drive to tie the game at 7-7 on a 30 yard touchdown pass from quarterback Joey Farrar (19-for-36, 275 yards, 1 TD) to T.J. Hairston with 1:27 left in the first quarter, after which they recovered an onside kick.

The Wildcats defense, however, held the Red Raiders to a three and out keyed by a Parsons sack and just three plays later Parsons began his huge offensive night with a 52 yard touchdown run on the second play of the second quarter for a 14-7 lead.

After the Wilmington defense sacked Farrar on a fourth down play for one of their seven sacks on the night, the Wildcats went on a six play, 65 yard drive to extend their lead to 21-7 when Ferreira (6-for-8, 92 yards, 2 TD's) connected with junior wide receiver Sam Borseti for a 20 yard touchdown pass with 5:20 left in the half.

Borseti caught the pass at the ten and then did a great job to stay inbounds on his way to the end zone.

The Wildcats would add one more score before the end of the half when Ferreira connected with Parsons for a 17-yard scoring pass with 31 seconds left in the half for the 27-7 lead the Wildcats would take to the locker room.

Watertown did not quit, however, putting together another impressive 10 play, 71 yard drive to pull within 27-14 with 4:45 left in the third quarter, when Sean McCusker scored on a one yard run.

Suddenly, it was a game again, but only for a moment, as Parsons quickly made it a three score game once again with a 75 yard kickoff return for a touchdown and a 34-14 lead.

"That was a huge play for us," Barry said. "They had just pulled within two scores and with the way they can throw the ball, you never know what could have happened, but John made a big play for us like the three year starter that he is."

As good a passing game as Watertown and Farrar have, and as impressive as it looked at times the Wildcats did a great job of shutting it down for most of the night, including for the remainder of the second half when they were constantly in the Red Raiders backfield pressuring Farrar.

"It wasn't just the sacks, but it was the pressure we put on," Barry said. "If you can get to the quarterback that is the best pass defense imaginable."

Parsons would eclipse the 1,000 yard mark with 6:30 left in the game when he ran for a 38 yard touchdown run to give the Wildcats a 41-14 lead and him 1,005 yards on the season. The run came on what has become a familiar scene for the Wildcats this season with Parsons bursting through the offensive line and sprinting untouched into the end zone for his 15th touchdown of the season.

"That's a great accomplishment for John," Barry said of Parsons reaching the 1,000 yard milestone. "He is having a great season for us on both offense and defense."

The Wildcats got a glimpse to the future on their final touchdown when sophomore quarterback Ryan Carroccino capped the Wildcats scoring with a 65 yard touchdown run with 2:30 left in the game.

On Friday night the Wildcats will try for their fourth straight win when they travel to Burlington to take on a Red Devils squad that is 6-3 on the season and tied for second in the Middlesex Small with the Wildcats with a 3-1 league record.

It is the league finale for both teams, while Wakefield who leads the Middlesex Small at 3-0 has two games remaining within the loop. If the Wildcats are able to win on Friday they would win the league crown if Wakefield loses both of their remaining league games, against Watertown and Melrose.

No doubt, it's a big game, but you won't catch Barry admitting the Friday's game is bigger than any others the Wildcats have played this season.

"You only play ten or eleven games so they are all big," Barry said. "You can't take anyone lightly."

The Red Devils boast a potent offense led by junior running back Marcus Odiah who is second in Division 2 with 20 touchdowns on the season. Senior running back Kyle Shields is having an outstanding season in his own right, with 11 touchdowns of his own, while quarterback Shane Farley has thrown eight touchdown passes.

"They have two great running backs and it doesn't end there," Barry said. "They have a great quarterback and a very tough defense. They are a very good all around team, so we will have to come to play."

sure they were ready right from the opening whistle.

"We always do (start off slow) so I don't know how we scored three first half goals," said Newhouse. "Before the game started, all we kept saying was 'we have to score early, we have to score early' and that's what we did. I think we were nervous at first but then we got psyched up and we just want to go out there and win."

That they did, and Newhouse for one was elated that the Wildcats were able to pull off a state tournament victory.

"I think we're just a better team (than we were last year)," she said. "I think we have better passing, we have better skills and the forward line has been doing great and that's helped us out so much being able to score goals. And our defense has been so awesome."

Two days later that great season came to an end as Belmont scored three second half goals to go on to defeat the Wildcats 4-1 in the quarterfinal round. It was the second time the Marauders topped the Wildcats, winning 2-1 in the regular season match-up.

Wilmington took a 1-0 lead as Wilson scored an unassisted goal before Belmont tied it up before the first half closed. Then Belmont rallied to score three goals in the second half to secure the win.

"I have to say, when we hit the half against Belmont, I thought we had it in the bag," said Campbell. "We played an excellent first half, and getting it in the net first had the girls adrenaline pumping. We were making great plays and were moving up the field with no problem. At that point, I think the girls were already thinking about round three."

But that didn't happen. Belmont dominated the entire second half.

"Unfortunately, we didn't come out as strong during the second half and Belmont kicked it into gear at that point," said Campbell. "It seemed like every call was against us. We just couldn't get ahead of it, and Belmont was just able to get it into the net. We played a good game, and just weren't able to get it into the net when we were in the circle."

Despite the loss, Campbell is thrilled when she reflects upon this season and thinks about how far this program has come not only in the past few months, but the past few years.

"I can't be happier with the outcome of our season," she said. "Going into the Middlesex League blindsided was scary, and now that we have made our mark, I know that we will be able to compete and create bigger goals for future teams. The varsity team this year really stepped it up. They have continued the tradition that we started years back, and they know if they come together as a team and play as a team, nothing else matters"

Wilmington will be losing eleven more seniors off this year's team and many of whom will be very difficult to replace especially the three captains, Newhouse, Wilson and defensive back Courtney Cavanaugh. Also playing in their final game were Kassandra Madore, Cassandra Lee, Kathleen Kurowski, Shelley Sullivan, LisaMarie DiOrio, Gillian Hery, Jennifer Stewart and Caileen Cadogan.

Volleyball program looks to bright future

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Nearly ten days ago the Wilmington High School Volleyball team ended its season, and despite finishing with a 6-14 record including going through a very inconsistent season, second-year head coach Meghan Sheehy said that the program continues to make strides.

"I'm proud of my girls and every thing they accomplished," she said. "We lost roughly four starters from the previous season so we knew going into this season we had to work. Although our record wasn't spectacular, the girls fought hard. This was our first year in the (Middlesex) league and I think we gave teams a run for their money. With the exception of one game, we didn't hand a win to the opposing team. We made them work for it."

Sheehy took over as head coach before last season and inherited a young and inexperienced team that finished 8-12 overall. Many of those players improved over the course of the 2010 season but a handful of starting players graduated last June. That left another young and inexperienced team heading into this season - and despite youth, inexperience and lack of height, crawling to six wins certainly was a respectable accomplishment.

"Of course I would have loved for my girls to make the state tournament and really show what they are made of, but this just wasn't our year," said Sheehy. "Now we focus on next year. There are six returning juniors and they will have the opportunity to step up next year."

Wilmington will lose seven seniors off this year's club including Robin Hollenbeck, Caitlin McDonough, Kerry Murphy, Emma Saporito, Lauren Sullivan, Kelley Wilcox and Ashley White. Woods and Bennett return as the team's most experienced players.

"Each year the players are becoming more serious about the sport and playing year round," said Sheehy. "This along with the dedication of my players gives me very high hopes for next season. (Assistant) Coach (Kylie) Magee and I have already started talking strategy and how we can be better coaches for our girls. It is time for Wilmington Volleyball to make a name for itself and that is our goal in the upcoming seasons."

Magical ride ends for Boys Soccer team

Wilmington ends the season with a 6-7-6 overall record.

"We were rebuilding to start the season so I didn't expect to be in contention," said Scanlon. "And at one time, when we were 3-6-2, it certainly didn't look good. But then we had a miraculous finish and I really think that says so much about these kids. We needed the seniors to be leaders down the stretch and that's exactly what guys like (Jamie) Mara, (Tom) Broman, Anderson and (Phil) Lentini were. They all did real good jobs as leaders and that was a tough thing for those guys. We were in a new league and the kids had to find their way, and when you're down like that with a 3-6-2 record, it's tough. But the kids kept rallying back, and for them to sneak into the tournament really was great to see."

Wilmington will lose ten more seniors off this year's club including Broman, Colin McGuire, Lentini, Anthony Brown, Dan Collins, Dan Vigneau, Mara, Anderson, Zach Curley and James Donovan. That being said a good nucleus of players will return including a very skilled sophomore class with Kory McGilvary, Drew Foley, Jared Walsh, Conor Townsend and Luke Foley as well as Doherty, a talented junior will return.

This past week the Middlesex League announced that Phil Lentini, Jamie Mara and Colin Doherty were named as league all-stars.

Cross Country team correction

In last week's issue, there was a story written about the Wilmington High School Cross Country teams competing at the Middlesex League Championship Meet. One member of the Boys team was omitted in the write-up. David Swider actually finished first for the Wildcat Boys team, coming in 20th place overall with a time of 13:24.

Penalty Kicks help Arlington prevail

Wildcats lose in triple overtime

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

All along it was known just how tough the Middlesex League really can be. Wilmington High Girls' Soccer coach Sue Hendee knew that, so when her team entered the new division this season, playing against so many outstanding teams would only help her team get better. And that happened.

On Saturday afternoon, the Wildcats came into their first playoff game since 2007 as the No. 6 seed in the Division 2 North Sectional tournament, and hosted a playoff game for the first time since 2004, taking on the No. 11 seed Arlington Spy Ponders, also from the Middlesex League. The two teams had faced each other once during the regular season ending in a 1-1 tie, in a back-and-forth, very physical contest. Saturday was no different.

After two heartpounding 40 minute halves of scoreless soccer, the two teams then played two more gutrenching ten minute sudden-death overtime periods to see neither team score. Throughout the 100 minutes of soccer, both teams had a number of scoring chances, especially Wilmington's Alex Bischoff completely getting robbed in the 70th minute. And all of that set up the dreaded penalty kick session with each team sending five players to the line, 1-on-1 against the opposing goalie. That's when Arlington emerged scoring three goals compared to two for Wilmington to come away with the 1-0, three overtime victory in the first round of the tournament played at Alumni Field.

Since that win, Arlington went on to defeat Bedford 2-1 in the quarterfinals and now are ready to face league rival Stoneham in the semi-finals. On the other side of the bracket, Middlesex League foe Belmont is still alive, meaning three of the six remaining teams in the 17 in the entire bracket come from the ML.

"I wish we could've played a team from outside of the Middlesex League," said Hendee. "Going into that game, I thought we had a real good chance of beating Arlington and certainly the way we played that game we could've beaten them. Playing in the Middlesex League certainly prepares you for that next level and if you look between Division 1 and Division 2 (North brackets) six of the seven teams in the Middlesex League faced each other in the first round. I think it would have been interesting to see how we would do against a team outside of the Middlesex League, just like I'd like to see how Arlington and Stoneham will do against the other teams as well."

Arlington went on to defeat Bedford and Stoneham crushed Danvers, a perennial state contender every year, 4-1. Wilmington played Stoneham twice, ending in a 0-0 tie the first game and then losing 1-0 in the second battle.

During Saturday's contest, neither team really had a great opportunity to cash in during the first half. Wilmington played pretty tentativ. Although each team had four shots on net, Arlington carried the play a little bit more than Wilmington.

"I think in the first half nerves were a problem for us," said Hendee. "But at the same time you have to give Arlington a lot of credit for the defensive minded style they played against us. We had a tough time cracking their defense in the first half. I was actually glad to come out of that first half 0-0. The Sun became such a factor (on Wilmington's defense especially keeper Sarah Luz). It was pretty tough."

So after some halftime adjustments, Wilmington played much better in the second half, in fact they held a 5-1 shot advantage. Offensively, Wilmington had two tremendous scoring bids, the first coming as Holy Niemiec took a corner kick to the left of the Arlington keeper. Niemiec lined up to take a long boot, but instead softly passed the ball to defender Taylor Shelton, who came streaking in from the midfield. Shelton took the pass and lifted a long high kick to the far opposite side of the net and the ball nailed the top crossbar. The ball seemed to come straight down but the officials blew the play dead, saying the ball hit the Football Goal Post hanging above the soccer net, therefore it would be out of play.

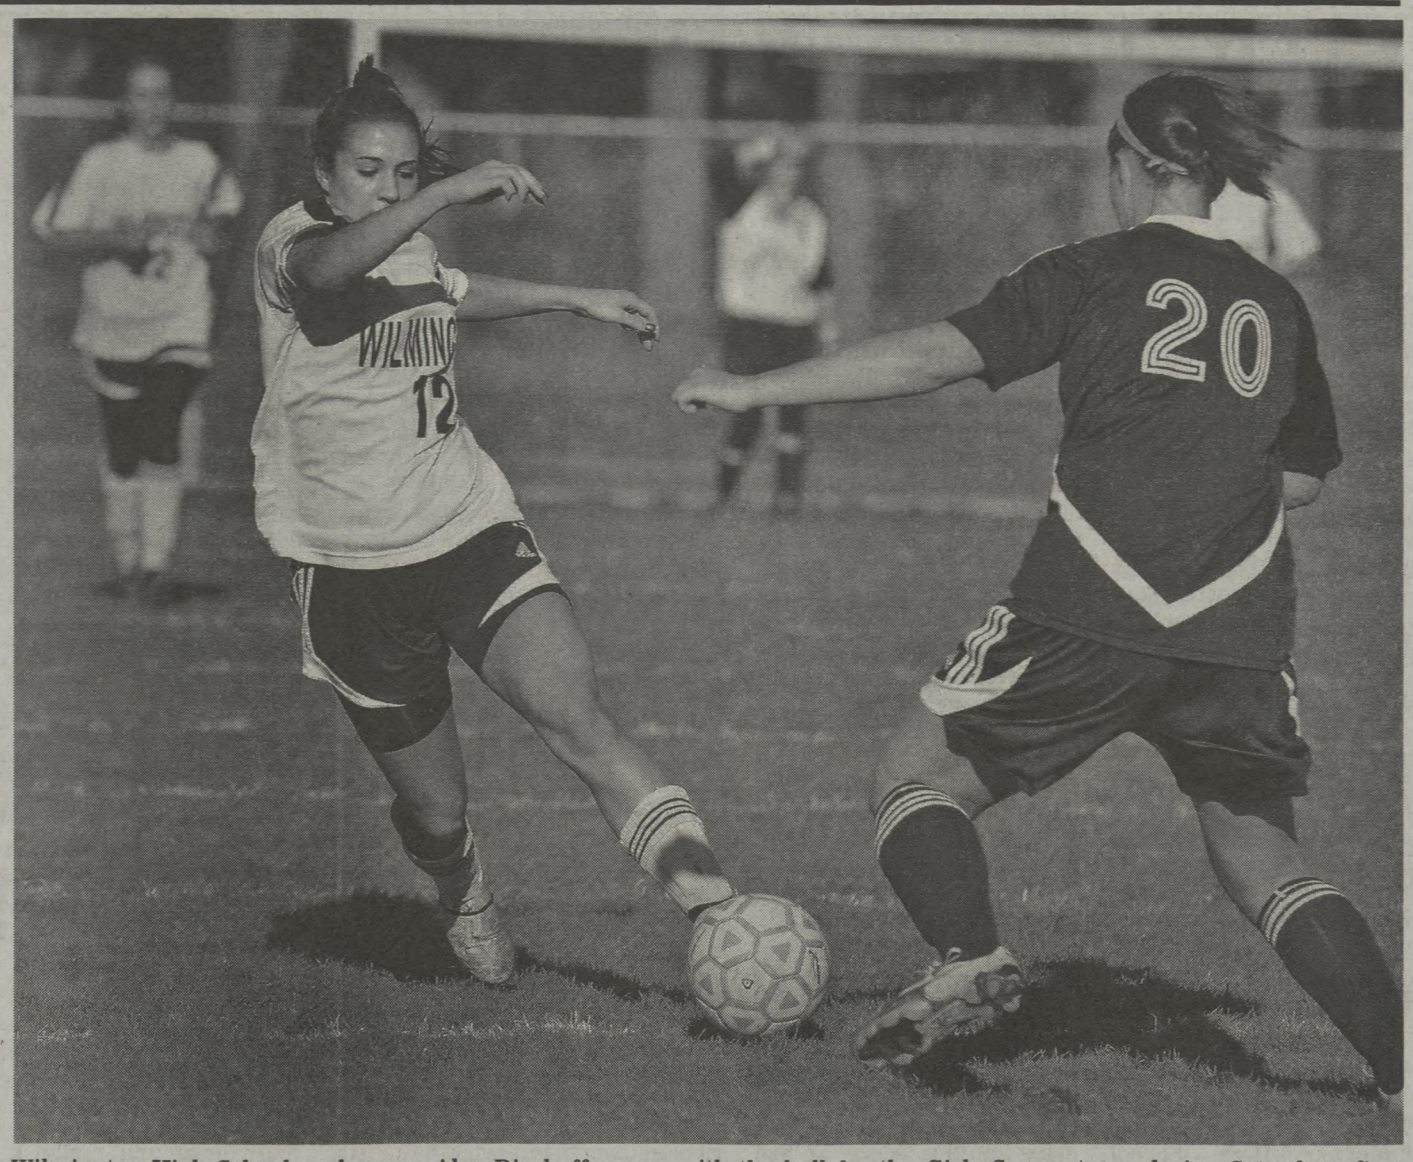

Besides that bid, the other came with ten minutes left in the second half. Wilmington displayed some quick passing starting from left fullback Paige Bennett who found Alex Bischoff open on the right side. She utilized her tremendous speed by beating a defender down the wing before unleashing a cannon right foot shot that was headed to the top left hand corner but the keeper somehow dove and got enough fingertips on it to send the ball over the net for an absolutely incredible save.

"That was a ridiculous save," said Hendee. "It was a game saver for sure. It saved the game for them. It was just a spectacular save. And that was such a tough shot too - Alex really got a great shot off - just a ridiculous save."

Throughout the final 40 minutes in the second half, and especially throughout the second overtime period, Wilmington seemed to be playing much more relaxed, possession style of game.

"From the first half on I thought we really played much better," said Hendee. "Our chances came in spurts, but we had good opportunities to score between Alex's speed and Rachel (Grabar's) skill. We kind of played kick and run but I think Arlington's defense allowed us to do that - it wasn't the prettiest soccer. But when a defense is flat and leaves 30 yards of open space behind, you have to use your speed and we did that and it was still somewhat effective. We were able to be creative and create some scoring chances."

While Wilmington played much better offensively in the second half, four players really stuck out on the defensive end throughout all 100 minutes - the combination of Kristen Tavares and Cassie Grasso, as well as the combination of fullbacks Lauren McKenna and Kelly Hartsough. Tavares and Grasso had the job of shadowing Arlington's ace player Rebecca Richardson for the second time this season. A fantastic athlete who is going to Syracuse on a full track scholarship, Tavares and Grasso did an absolutely incredible job shutting down the prolific player.

"(Richardson) is a very difficult girl to defend and contain," said Hendee. "She's physical, she has good skill and such tremendous speed, so it was very important for Kristen, Cassie and our defenders like Lauren and Kelly to double and triple team her whenever she got the ball. I thought we did a great job of slowing her down and not allowing her to do what she wanted to do. Kristen is a perfect kind of kid to do that job (of shadowing a player). She doesn't lose her cool, and she didn't on Saturday despite being knocked around a lot. Kristen is fast, she's aggressive and besides being six inches shorter than (Richardson) and losing the head balls, Kristen did a great, great job."

Behind Tavares, was two girls, McKenna and Hartsough, who really have strived to become tremendous defensive players, not only in this game but all season long -- a big reason why the Wildcats went from three wins a year ago to ten.

"Both Kelly and Lauren have been real solid all season," said Hendee. "I can't think of a single game in which either of them struggled. They have both become such solid players. Lauren has improved so much between heading the ball, her speed and Kelly is very fast and very fit - she never comes out of a game because she's in such great shape. They both are very smart players who work very well together."

Each team had one shot on net in the first overtime period, and Wilmington held a 2-1 edge in the second overtime period. Niemiec had the best chance to score as she took a shot that went off the keeper and the rebound rolled right through the six yard box. That set-up the penalty kicks where Arlington emerged 3-2.

"The penalty kicks system is what it is - you have one player going against another player in a team oriented sport to determine a winner," said Hendee. "I just think it ruins the team aspect of it all. I understand penalty kicks are a part of the game and can be a game changer, but it shouldn't be the deciding way to determine a game."

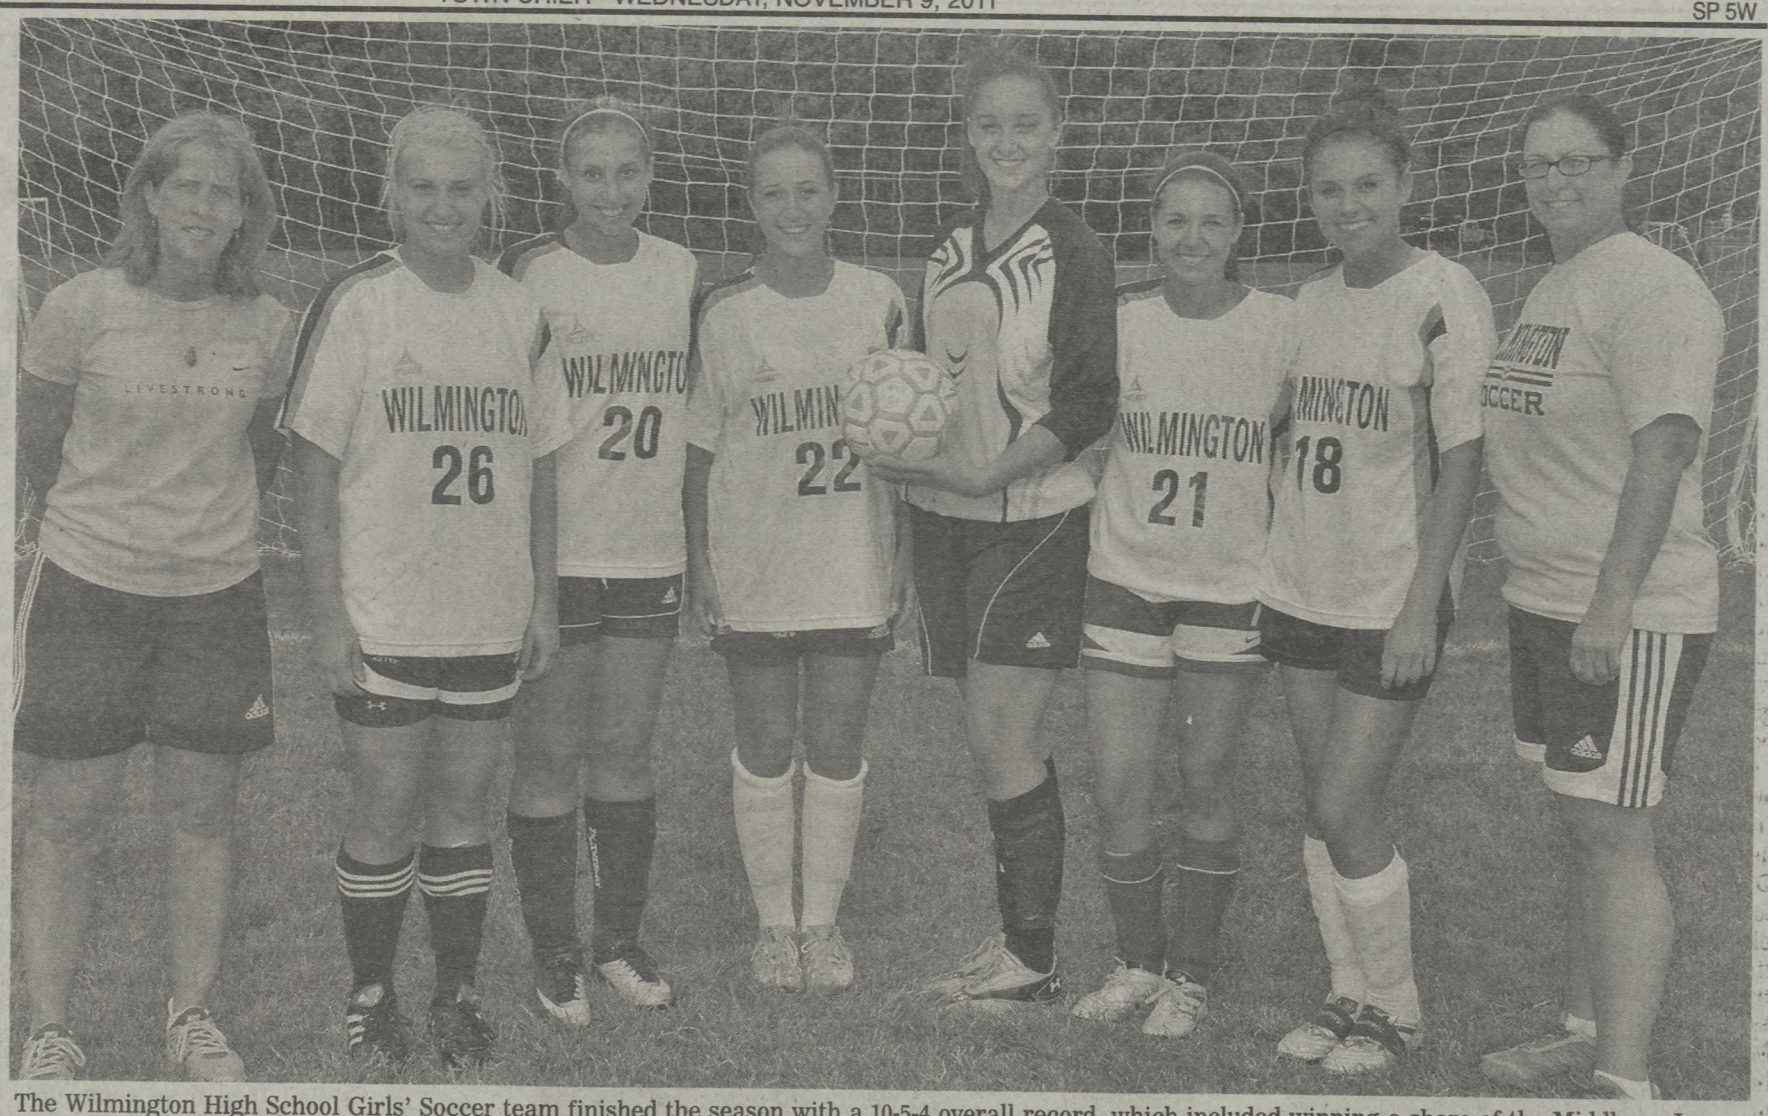

Unfortunately the penalty kicks decided the game, and the season for Wilmington.

"We had a great season," said Hendee, a day after her team finished the 2011 season with a 10-5-4 overall record. "It's always hard losing in the tournament. You lose that game and you still find yourself scratching your head a lot because you don't expect to lose, you don't want to lose and all of a sudden your season ends suddenly and you're finding all of this extra time now in the afternoons that you normally wouldn't have. So I'm still in shock in a way. I know there was a lot if disappointment after the game was over but I'm extremely proud of the girls and the season we had. I honestly didn't have high expectations coming into this season and we far surpassed all of the expectations any of us could have had. I'm really proud of everything we accomplished starting from the off-season work to what we did during the season. The team really jelled together. We had a lot of seniors who became great leaders."

The 2011 Wildcats will lose six seniors from this year's team, including tri-captains Alexa Brown, Rachel Grabar and Sarah Luz, as well as Paige Bennett, Michaela D'Ambrosio and Taylor Shelton.

"Four of the six girls played for four years," said Hendee. "Sarah came on as a sophomore and then became a starter as a junior and had a pretty immediate impact and she gained a lot of experience and had two strong seasons. Michaela is a nice kid who works very hard. Whenever she was put in, she stepped up and played very hard. Rachel is going to be a tough girl to replace. Sarah's leadership will really be missed. She did a lot in the off-season helping the team come together. You have to be a leader as a goalie, but her leadership will really be missed both on and off the field.

"Paige and Taylor offered a lot of offensive minded defense for us," continued Hendee. "They were really good at attacking from the outside. I think they also helped other kids learn that position. And Alexa is a tough kid, with good skill and is very intense."

The Wilmington High School Girls' Soccer team finished the season with a 10-5-4 overall record, which included winning a share of the Middlesex League Small School title, as well as qualifying for the post season. The team coached by Sue Hendee, far left, and assistant coach Mary Armata right, was led by its seniors including from left, Alexa Brown, Michaela D'Ambrosio, Paige Bennett, Sarah Luz, Rachel Grabar and Taylor Shelton.

Team All-Stars

This past week the Middlesex League announced its league all-star players. Each division, large school and small school gets 17 players who basically are all-league players. For Wilmington, Rachel Grabar, Kaitlyn Curley, Holly Niemiec and Kelly Hartsough were named All-Star players and Lauren McKenna was named to the honorable mention team. In addition, Niemiec was also named to the Eastern Mass All-Star team, an incredible honor especially for a junior.

Lady Rams pick up tournament win

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

BILLERICA -- The Shawsheen Tech volleyball team had a tremendous regular season, finishing with a 16-4 overall record that earned them the number two seed in the Division 3 North Tournament.

On Tuesday night, the Lady Rams showed they had earned that number two seed with a dominating 3-0 (25-5, 25-10, 25-11) win over seventh seeded Boston International in the first round of the sectional tournament at Shawsheen.

While Boston International may not have been the best team the Lady Rams have faced all season, Shawsheen coach Chet Flynn was still impressed with his team's effort in the playoff opener.

"We knew very little about them going in, but we knew they had played (No. 4 seed) St. Clement's pretty well early in the season," Flynn said. "I am not sure if they were nervous or what the problem was but they were not as strong as we thought they were. But I thought we played well an we had a lot of people contribute."

The Lady Rams got many outstanding efforts on the evening led by Danielle Cacciola who had 17 service points in the first two sets alone, along with Stephanie Champoux who chipped in with five kills and seven service points of her own.

"Danielle really set the pace for us in both of those first games," Flynn said. "And Stephanie along with everything else she did, passed the ball very well for us."

With the win the Lady Rams move on to the Division 3 North semi-finals where they will host Austin Prep on Thursday night at 7:00 at Shawsheen.

Shawsheen did not face Austin Prep this season, but faced them twice last year losing both match-ups. Still, Flynn is confident of his team's chances on Thursday night.

"I think we are going to match up with them fairly well," Flynn said. "They beat us a couple of times last year, but this year we have a little more height where we can match up better with them.

"With Jess Vitale, Nicole Kakleas and Stephanie Champoux I think we match up a little better than last year," Flynn said. "Also we don't hit the ball as hard as last year, but I feel like we hit it more accurately."

Whatever happens on Thursday, Flynn is proud of what his team has accomplished this season.

"I am definitely happy with where we are," Flynn said. "With only two seniors back on the team it was hard to tell how the season would go so for us to get this far is very good. What we have here is a bunch of kids who work hard together and play well together and it has paid off so far."

After Voc title, Girls Soccer team falls in tourney

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

BILLERICA -- The Shawsheen Tech Girls Soccer team saw their season end in disappointment on Tuesday afternoon with a 4-0 loss to Georgetown in the quarterfinals of the Division 3 North Sectional Tournament, but one loss could not diminish all that the Lady Rams accomplished this season.

"We had a great season and had a lot of big wins together," Michaud said. "It was disappointing to lose, but we went through a lot this season and had a lot of fun."

Michaud was also very proud of the way his team played even in defeat against Georgetown.

"The girls played hard right to the very end. They never quit and that was great to see," Michaud said. "Being a team that won a lot of blowout games you might think that being on the other end they would just fold, but they never stopped working."

The loss to eighth seeded Georgetown left the top seeded Lady Rams with a final record of 19-2 for the season, a season that included a 16-0 start, the program's fourth straight CAC Large School Division championship, their fifth straight State Vocational championship and the 100th win in the career of Michaud.

Prior to the loss to Georgetown the Lady Rams had won their first round tournament game with a 4-1 win over No. 17 seed Winthrop on Saturday at Shawsheen. It was a fantastic effort by Shawsheen to give them their first state tournament win since 2009 when they advanced to the semi-finals.

Shawsheen controlled the game right from the start, taking a 1-0 lead just two minutes into the game on a goal by senior midfielder Marissa Irwin. While Winthrop fought back the Lady Rams were never seriously threatened as they rolled to the victory over a Winthrop team that had beaten them 2-1 last season.

"I think we were pretty confident going in," Michaud said. "I know they had beaten us last year at their place, but we had six starters out of that game and we still played them pretty well. I knew going into this game that we were at full strength and they had the same team as last year."

While Shawsheen were not over confident, their fast start to the game did lead to a bit of complacency for a few moments on the part of the Lady Rams who had won many games in blowout fashion this season.

"Sometimes we come out of the gates too fast and I felt like this might have been one of those games," Michaud said. "Even though we scored early Winthrop did not quit. I had to call a timeout to tell our kids that Winthrop can come back so we needed to show that we want to win. The kids responded very well."

Irwin would add two assists to her early goal, while Rachel and Rebecca McLaren of Wilmington each added a goal for Shawsheen. Junior Kristen Carroll of Tewksbury also added a goal while goalie Jan Curtis played very well in net for the Lady Rams making nine saves.

"It was a great all around effort," Michaud said. "Everybody really played well, and it was great to get a tournament win."

Shawsheen had actually already gotten a couple of tournament wins on Thursday and Friday in the State Vocational Tournament where they were once again the top seed.

In the first round Shawsheen ousted fourth seeded North Shore by a score of 2-0, setting up a dramatic final against Diman Voke of Fall River who had beaten Shawsheen's CAC rival Greater Lowell 6-2 in the first round.

Against Diman, Shawsheen got the game winning goal from Carroll with 1:06 left in the game to give them their fifth straight voke title with a 2-1 victory. Carroll's goal came on a spectacular effort as she streaked to the net to pounce on a rebound and put it past the stunned Diman goalie.

"The goalie mishandled the first shot and Kristen just came out of nowhere to put it in," Michaud said. "She was so fast to the ball I could not believe it."

The victory was not clinched, however, until defender Sabrina Gomes made a spectacular play in the closing seconds to rob a Diman player that was on a breakaway and had made a move to get around Curtis.

"The Diman player had to go around Jen pretty wide because she knew she could not beat her one on one," Michaud said. "So the girl went wide and Sabrina came from the other side of the field and closed her down."

With five vocational titles in a row, the Shawsheen program has clearly established themselves as the elite vocational program in the state, and the win over solidified that position more than ever.

"Diman's a Division two team and they are very good," Michaud said. "It was nice to beat them. We actually preferred to play them as opposed to Greater Lowell who we had already beaten a few times during the season. It was a real test for us."

A win this Saturday and they're in

Rams Football team back in playoff hunt

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

BILLERICA - It did not seem possible just a few weeks ago, but on Saturday morning the Shawsheen Tech Football team will travel to Wakefield to take on Northeast Metro Tech in a quest for their second consecutive CAC Large School championship and their second consecutive playoff berth that goes with it.

The reason the defending Division 4 Super Bowl champions Rams will be playing for the league title is that they have come up with three straight league wins after starting the season 1-4, the most recent of which came on Saturday afternoon at Samuel J. Cassidy Field when they downed CAC Large rival Whittier by a score of 16-8 to improve to 4-4 on the season an 2-1 in the CAC Large.

It was a remarkably balanced offensive attack that led the Rams to this victory as they were led by the efforts of junior quarterback Mike O'Hearn who was 18-for-29 passing for 172 yards and a touchdown, along with senior running back Andrew Dascoli who ran for 115 yards.

Defensively the Rams were equally as good, limiting Whittier to just five first downs for the game and shutting down their normally potent running game with the exception of a 69 yard scoring run in the first quarter.

The game was eerily reminiscent of last season's matchup between these two teams in Haverhill when the Rams actually held Whittier without a first down, allowing just one score on an 80-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter.

"This was a great team effort," Shawsheen coach Al Costabile said. "They made some adjustments during the game to take some things away from us, but our kids responded with great courage and fought back."

In the early going the game had all the earmarks of a shootout in the making, with the teams trading scores on the first three possessions of the game, but after that it settled down into an old fashioned defensive struggle with the Rams holding the upper hand.

Shawsheen got on the board first, taking the opening possession of the game and going on a 10 play, 62 yard drive that was capped on a perfectly executed sweep by senior running back Brian Ward with 5:53 left in the first quarter.

Ward's run was set up by the passing of O'Hearn who completed six passes on the drive for 42 yards. On the touchdown play Ward took a handoff on a sweep to the left and no Whittier defender ever came near him as he scampered into the end zone with the Wildcats too concerned about the pass to cover the run. The extra point attempt failed and the Shawsheen lead stood at 6-0.

"Our game plan was to throw the ball today and Mike certainly responded and did a great job," Costabile said. "And then when they tried to take away the pass we were able to run the ball and play physical when we had to."

Whittier wasted little time in responding, however, as on their third play from scrimmage quarterback Shane Surette broke free for a 69 yard touchdown run with 4:21 left in the quarter. Surette broke one tackle in the Shawsheen secondary and was then off to the races with no Rams defender able to catch him.

Andrew McGrath ran in the two point conversion and the Wildcats held an 8-6 lead.

Shawsheen continued the trend of trading scores on their next possession, going on a nine play, 61 yard drive, capped by an eight yard scoring pass from O'Hearn to senior wide receiver Josh Dascoli, which Dascoli hauled in with a leaping catch in the right corner of the end zone for O'Hearn's tenth touchdown pass of the season.

Junior kicker Devonn Pratt added the extra point for Shawsheen to give the Rams a 13-8 lead.

The defenses took over from there, with senior linebacker Nick Federico, senior defensive tackle Lenny Houghton and junior defensive end Devin Summiel doing the bulk of the work for Shawsheen. Summiel's efforts included recovering a Whittier fumble late in the first half.

Whittier threatened to take the lead late in the third quarter, going on a seven play drive down to the Shawsheen 14 yard line where they faced a fourth and one. But the Shawsheen defense, with literally the entire defensive line swarming the ball carrier, held firm and kept the Wildcats off the scoreboard.

The Rams offense responded to the defensive stand by going on a 10 play drive that led to a 37 yard field goal by Pratt to extend the lead to 16-8 with 7:11 left in the game.

Shawsheen will look to continue their winning ways and clinch the CAC Large on Saturday morning at 10:30 a.m. in Wakefield against a Northeast team that is 7-2 overall and brings an identical 2-1 mark in the CAC Large into the game.

The game is a matchup of two defending Super Bowl champions as the Rams captured the Division 4 title last season, while Northeast won the 4A championship and the CAC Small before moving up to the Large this season.

Northeast handed Shawsheen their only loss of the season last year with a 14-9 win in Billerica, marching 85 yards in the final 1:30 of the game and scoring the winning touchdown on a 10 yard pass from Donato DiPietrantonio to Bobby Novello.

DiPietrantonio has graduated but Novello is back and has scored 13 touchdowns on the season, while junior David Mahoney is the new quarterback and has thrown for six touchdown passes, three of them to junior wide receiver George Welch.

"They are a great team and they do everything well, particularly running the football," Costaible said. "They are always very well coached and it is always very difficult to beat a champion which is what they are."

Wilmington Buzzers program is a fun filled event

The Wilmington Youth Hockey Buzzers program is a fun introduction to the game of hockey with an emphasis on skills: stops and starts, edgework, and puck handling. There are typically two practices a week and as the season progresses, Saturday is dedicated to skill building and Sunday is dedicated to cross ice 3v3 scrimmaging. Other potential opportunities during the season, depending on timing and availability, include local tournaments and half ice scrimmaging with neighboring Buzzers programs.

Goals of this level:

* Develop skating and puck control skills of the individual player
* Introduce basic shooting and passing skills
* Introduce goalie position
* Introduce basic game play

Throughout the year, players will participate in a goalie rotation with WYH providing the equipment for the players to try the goalie position. During the cross ice scrimmages, all emphasis is put on going after the puck and not positional play. During half ice or full ice scrimmages more emphasis will be put on positional play. The primary goal is to develop a solid foundation of skating and puck handling skills to build on in the upper levels of Wilmington Youth Hockey.

Please visit www.Wilmingtonyouthhockey.org for details and registration, or come down to the rink and visit us in person to witness a fun time.

Wilmington Youth Hockey weekly recap

Joey Cornish, Michael Daniels, Chase Perault and Nate Packer of the Wilmington Mite 2 White youth hockey team, get ready to play their game this past weekend against Wakefield. (courtesy photo).

Saturday November 5th, 2011 Wilmington Wildcats Mite 1 youth hockey team traveled to Newton in this post playdown era to face off against a top shelf Newton Mite 1 team. Both of these teams were in the top of the AAA division knowing that this game was going to propel them or drop them from the top. The game did not disappoint as both teams came out firing.

Leading the team on the ice was net minder Derek Gallucci, with Peter and James Kourkoutas, Maura Fiorenza and Jimmy McCarron teaming up on defense. Sam Cedrone, Evan Munro, Brendan Ardito, Matthew Ardito, Nolan Vigeant, Ryan Ackerley, and Nathan Alberti teamed up on offense. Newton struck first early in the first period as a screen shot got by the Wilmington goalie for a 1-0 lead.

Nolan Vigeant made a nice play to find an open Ryan Ackerley who made a great play to get a back hand shot on net only to be stopped by a nice save. Derek Gallucci made three nice saves early in this one as Newton came out firing. James Kourkoutas was a force at the blue line clearing out the put on demand. Nolan Vigeant almost broke through early but was denied by the goalies best friend, the post.

Newton got a break not long after and struck again for a 2-0 lead. Jimmy McCarron made a nice play to keep the pressure in the Newton zone as Matthew Ardito made a amazing individual play to skate up the left side through two players, stick handling and showing his speed while brother Brendan Ardito knew to go to the net to receive a brilliant back hand pass for a one timer and his first goal of the game making it a 2-1 deficit.

Newton bounced back quickly as they scored on a tip in front of the net making it 3-1. Wilmington did not give up as Nolan Vigeant made a great individual play to back check a play that would have materialized into a break away. Jimmy McCarron made a nice pass to Brendan Ardito who then found Nolan Vigeant, who then showed a burst of speed up the middle through three players and then roofed a shot for his first goal of the game making it 3-2.

James Kourkoutas made an amazing play to keep the puck in the zone as Brendan Ardito backed checked a play dead, as James then found Ryan Ackerley who cleared the puck to a streaking Brendan Ardito who looked like rocket boy as he beat everyone to the puck while going to the backhand for his second goal making the score even at three. Nathan Alberti stick handled through the middle getting the puck to Nolan Vigeant who made a heads up pass to an open Sam Cedrone for a nice shot that was denied. Derek Gallucci made key save after key save with some nice kick saves.

Evan Munro made a great play to stop a play at center ice that easily could have been a break away. Evan Munro then passed to Brendan Arditio who got the puck to Ryan Ackerley for a shot, but Brendan pounced on the rebound for a hat trick and a 4-3 Wildcat lead.

Newton struck back quickly making it 4-4 on an awesome top corner shot. James Kourkoutas found Matthew Ardito on a clear out, Matthew showed his speed and determination as he turned on the jets going the distance and scoring his first of the game making it 5-4 Wilmington.

Newton struck back on a three on one breakout making a nice pass to the open shooter making it even again at 5-5. Brendan Ardito found Sam Cedrone in front of the net with a nice pass, Sam's one timer went five hole for yet another Wildcat lead making it 6-5. This was a great four-goal period for this Mite team, as they came back and fought harder than ever to get back into this game.

Peter Kourkoutas made a nice heads up pass on a clear in during a potential offsides as he passed across the ice to brother James keeping the puck in Wildcat control. Maura Fiorenza was all over the place on defense shutting down Newton early in the third. Derek Gallucci made yet another key save keeping Newton at bay. Peter Kourkoutas made a ice pass off of the boards to Brendan Ardito who did his magic again for the fourth time of the game, simply awesome as he scored yet again making it 7-5. Newton did not go quietly as they struck back fast yet again making it 7-6.

The Ardito show continued as Brendan found brother Matthew again for a nice shot, but this time was denied. Jimmy McCarron and Maura Fiorenza made a nice play to keep the puck in the zone, as Brendan made the pass to Ryan Ackerley who was robbed on a nice save.

Newton turned it up late, as Maura Fiorenza made a diving block, Nolan Vigeant made a nice back check, James and Peter Kourkoutas made key defensive play after play. Derek Gallucci made yet another brilliant save to keep the score as is.

Late in the game, with one minute left, a Face off occurred, as Newton made the play and pulled their goalie for the extra skater. The gamble worked as the center made a great individual play and scored to tie the game up at 7-7. Wilmington had one last chance for the victory as Matthew Ardito found Sam Cedrone in front only to be denied by a diving goaltender sealing the game with a tie.

Mite 2 White

The Wilmington Mite 2 White Wildcats took a tough loss Saturday morning against the North Andover Mite 2 team by a score of 3-1. North Andover took the Wildcats by surprise when they scored in the first 17 seconds of play. This seemed to wake up the Wildcats as forwards Joey Pastore, Cameron Gagnon, and James Fisher peppered the opposing goalie with multiple shots in an attempt to tie it back up. About half way through the period, North Andover extended their lead with their second goal.

The Wildcats did not give up, as the defense of Michael Daniels, Patrick Callahan, Aydan Churchill and Ryan Dusablon patrolled the blue line with authority, keeping the puck pinned in the offensive zone. Again, there were more scoring opportunities by forwards Tristan DiMeco, Chase Perault, Pastore and Fisher, but Wilmington couldn't manage to get one through. Keegan Gray excited the crowd with a swift, dodging drive to get the puck back in the offensive zone, but still Wilmington was unable to score.

With only 45 seconds left in the first period, Pastore's determination paid off as he scuffled in front of the net and netted the first Wildcat goal. When the first period buzzer sounded, Wilmington was only down by one, 2-1.

The second period contained more back and forth action up and down the ice. Callahan used his finesse to continuously clear the puck out of Wilmington's zone. Again, Gray dazzled the crowd and made a bid to tie the score, but his shot ricocheted off the post. Three minutes into the period North Andover's speedy forward blazed in to the Wilmington zone on a breakaway, but goalie Liam Crowley stood strong and made a great save as the puck deflected off his chest and away from the net.

Wilmington continued to create chances, as Gagnon snapped off a beautifully elevated wrist shot, only to be smothered by a smooth sliding North Andover goalie. With about three minutes left in the period, North Andover snuck in goal number three. At the end of the period, the score was 3-1 with North Andover on top.

In the third period, once again forwards Fisher, Gray and Joey Cornish all had solid scoring opportunities turned away by the North Andover netminder. Forward Nate Packer prevented North Andover from extending their lead using his speed to deny a breakaway in the neutral zone. Goalie Crowley turned every shot away and gave Wilmington the stability they needed to make a run. With the period and game coming to a close, Wilmington pulled their goalie and added a skater to put more pressure on North Andover.

Defensemen Daniels, Callahan, Dusablon and Churchill kept the puck in the offensive zone at the blue line as forwards Cornish, Gagnon and Perault attacked the net. The crowd was on the edge of their seats as Cornish slid a pass under the goalie, through the crease, but the puck just couldn't find its way in to the net.

With a vacated Wilmington net, North Andover was unable to score, as was Wilmington, and the game ended with North Andover on top, 3-1.

Mite B Blue

On Saturday at Tewksbury's Superskills rink, Wilmington's Mite Blue team took on the Reading Mite B2's. The scoreboard was not kind to the Wildcats, who carried the play for much of the game but couldn't get the puck past a tough Reading netminder. The Blue's were prepared for Reading's best after beating the Rockets during the parity round and played a tough, spirited game. However, in the end, it was Reading that owned the scoreboard 8-4.

Nicholas Ackerman earned the start in goal this week and played a strong game between the pipes. Wilmington started the game with Mick Keogan at center, Phil Murray at left wing, and Brian Dunfey on the right side along with William O'Shea and Kevin Ackerley on defense. The second line was Ella Cedrone at center, Anthony Savage at left wing, and Jake Chirichiello at right wing with Jack Anderson and Brett Ebert on defense.

The first period was pretty evenly played, but it was Reading who took advantage of their opportunities and lead 4-0 at the end of the first. In the second period, Wilmington started out strong and carried the play for rest of the game. Brian Dunfey started the rally by picking up a loose puck and taking it in to make it 4-1. Reading quickly struck for 2 goals within a minute to up the lead to 6-1, but there is no quit in these Wildcats.

Seventeen seconds after Reading scored, Ella Cedrone took a Jake Chirichiello pass and put it the back of the net. Then with under a minute left in the second, Dunfey collected a pass from William O'Shea and cut the lead to 6-3 at the end of two.

Wilmington opened the third by cutting into Reading's lead even further. Brian Dunfey made it 6-4 and also collected his second consecutive hat trick. However, that was all the scoring Wilmington would do. Reading scored two quick goals to make it 8-4. The Blue team never quit though and Anthony Savage, Phil Murray, and Jake Chirichiello worked hard and created some scoring chances that just weren't meant to be.

Squirt 2's

The Wilmington Youth Hockey Association Squirt 2 team got back on the winning side in two games over the weekend, improving their record to 2-1 in the early stages of the regular season.

On Saturday afternoon the team traveled to Malden to face Beverly. In a game marked by rough play and a number of penalties against the Wildcats, Alex Fitzler stood tall in net as Wilmington got goals from six different players on the way to a 6-2 victory. Max Churchill led off the scoring, with assists going to John Spina and Nicholas Farrell. Before the first period ended, Cameron Banks added to the lead, assists going to Zachary Smith and Joseph Hansen. That each goal came with two assists indicated that the team was playing a passing game to stay one step ahead of the Beverly skaters.

The trend continued in the second period as Justin Crowley scored with an assist from John Spina. Spina earned another assist on the next goal, along with Morgan Vigeant, as Jillian Fisher scored her first goal of the season. Nicholas Farrell chipped in a goal, with an assist from Anthony Bowker. In the third period, Jared Russell closed out the scoring with assists going to Justin Crowley and Joseph Hansen.

The Wildcats returned to action Sunday morning in Tewksbury against Winchester. Max Churchill moved to goalie, and overcame a pair of early goals to hold back the Winchester attack while his teammates rallied for a comeback 3-2 victory. Joseph Hartzell and Anthony Bowker anchored the defense, with Justin Crowley, Chris Bernazani, Cameron Banks and Jared Russell rounding out the blue line pairs. Up front, it was the third line of Taylor Padulsky, Nicholas Farrell, and Alex Fitzler who got Wilmington on the board early in the second period, with Farrell finding the far corner of the net on a shot from the left side.

Later in the second, the Wildcat passing game was leading to scoring chances again, and John Spina evened the score with a nice shot from the slot. Into the third period, the evenly matched teams provided an entertaining game of end to end action. The difference came late, with Winchester taking a penalty with three minutes remaining. On the power play, the open space let Cameron Banks take a few strides in from the blue line and his high shot hit the twine with just over two minutes remaining.

Winchester pulled their goalie to look for extra offense, but Wilmington bottled play in the neutral zone and never allowed a serious threat as the clock counted down to the Wildcat victory.

Public Notices

Every day throughout the United States newspapers publish thousands of public notices about events, conditions or actions that affect countless individuals, families, neighborhoods and businesses. Public notices cover many topics including guardianships, conservatorships and protective orders, probating wills, business matters, liquor licensing, public auctions and sales, estates, zoning, public meetings, bids to sell goods and services to the government, auctions to dispose of surplus government equipment, local government finances and state and local elections. The public notice is a fundamental component of our system of representative democracy, which depends upon the participation of educated, responsible citizens.

Former Wilmington resident competed in Little League World Series

Matthew Murphy, son of former Wilmington resident, Joseph D. Murphy, and grandson of Wilmington residents, Joseph and Catherine Murphy of Gunderson Road, was a member of the championship Cumberland, Rl Americans Little League Team that recently competed in the 2011 Little League World Series Tournament in Williamsport, PA.

Cumberland qualified for Williamsport by capturing the Rhode Island State Championship, followed by a victory over Andover, MA, to win the New England Regional Championship, and entered the Williamsport World Series as the region's New England Representative.

The Rhode Island entry defeated the European Champion, Netherlands Team, 9-7, before losing to the eventual World Series winners, the California Regional Long Beach entry, who went on to defeat Japan in the 2011 series finals.

Matt is a seventh grader who bats and throws left-handed. He is also a member of the Rhode Island Raptors A.A.U. Baseball Team, and will be moving up to the Babe Ruth League for the coming 2012 season.

Chivas USA and LA Galaxy meet up on the field

Girls First Grade
Chivas USA
vs LA Galaxy

The crowds gathered at the Shawsheen fields for this back and forth game. The Chivas led by Jessica Collins and Emily Gray got the crowd jumping out of their seats. Kassidy Smith and Anabelle Cook led the scoring charge while the great defensive effort of Madelyn McCarron and Casey Ahlin kept the action going.

FC Dallas
vs Chicago Fire

The Fire's offensive pressure was relentless with Sofia Scalfani and Mallory Brown applying it with utter determination. Outstanding defense by Gabriella Daniels and Marni McBride was a sight to see. While scoring by Juila Gray and Caitlyn George had the crowd on the edge of their seats

Houston Dynamo
vs Columbus Crew

The Crew's offensive pressure was relentless with Carina O'Donnell applying it with utter determination. Outstanding defense by Elly O'Connell and Tiffany Barrera-perry was a sight to see. While scoring by Laine Stockman and Ella Wingate had the crowd on the edge of their seats

Boys First Grade
Chicago Fire
vs Philadelphia Union

The crowds gathered at the Shawsheen fields for this back and forth game. The Chicago Fire led by Cam Gagnon and Jonathan Dalton got the crowd jumping out of their seats. Dillon McGrath and Jonathan Magliozzi led the scoring charge while the great defensive effort of Kevin Ackerley and Jacob Smith kept the action going.

The Philadelphia Union's John MacNamara and Eric Fischer stayed on their toes and scored with help from Burke Zimmer, and Austin Farrell on offense. Michael Lewis and Cooper Loisel shut down the other end of the field which set the tone for the defense.

Girls Second Grade
Chicago Fire
vs Colorado Rapids

If you missed this match Saturday at the Shawsheen fields you missed one of the best games of the season. The Chicago Fire led by the offensive skills of Alexis Meza, Lilly Periello, Gabrielle DeVerbigier and Tori Ciampa were on display as the scoring opportunities were finished off by Kali Almeida and Olivia Spizouco. Not to be left out, the defense showed it's skills with Abby Regan, Corinn Flanagan and Abby Reddivari leading a defensive stand while the tandem of Karlie Reese and Janelle Penney made some incredible saves in net.

Columbus Crew
vs NE Revolution

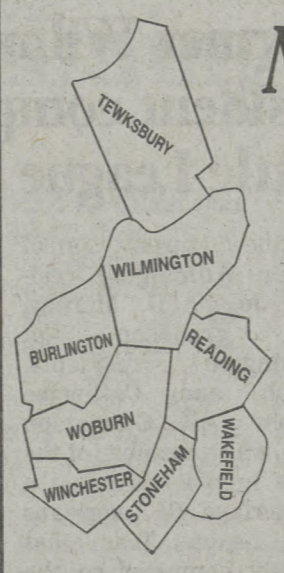

The crowd was kept on the edge of their seats this week as the Columbus Crew led by the offensive skills of Rowan Fortier, Olivia Rogers and Brooke Ward led to scoring opportunities by Angelyn Ciampa and Mackenzie Canning. The defense was not to be left out of this one either as Meghan Tompkins and Gianna Melaragni kept the ball out of their zone for much of the game.

The Revolution's offensive pressure was relentless with Danielle Flaherty, Madison Mulas, Alyssa Rago, Ella Reynolds and Grace Steinmetz applying it with utter determination. Outstanding defense by Marissa Bryan, Emily Fothergill, Samantha Jareo, and Quinn Proulx was a sight to see. While scoring by Rachel Nally had the crowd on the edge of their seats.

Revs face off against United on soccer field incredible offensive performance by Rita Roche and Kaitlyn Maguire while goals scored by Alyssa Grana got the United on the board. With a rock solid defensive stand led by Sara Buckley, Lilly Rubin, Kiley Flynn, Amanda Solari and Allison Foley the DC United was never out of this game. The keeper team of Ella Malvone and Gabriella Monteforte could only be classified as awesome.

NE Revolution
vs DC United

The DC United was also impressive on the offensive side of the ball with great skill being displayed by Dominic Gabardi, Christian O'Neal, Aidan Murphy, and Gavin Erickson leading to a goal by Brett Deambrose. The defense was also showing their skills today with Thomas Dalton, Nate Packer, and Aidan Elkins keeping the ball out of their zone for much of the game, while the goal keeping team of Nicholas Doyle and Brett Deambrose kept this game close.

Columbus Crew
vs Houston Dynamo

If you missed this match Saturday at the Shawsheen fields you missed one of the best games of the season. The Columbus Crew led by the offensive skills of Kevin Stevens, Shane Papineau and Nicholas Cella were on display as the scoring opportunities were finished off by Evan Shackelford and AJ Lavigne. Not to be left out, the defense showed it's skills with Liam Dwyer, Victor Che and Matt Vinal leading a defensive stand while the tandem of Joe McLaren and Dillon Bloom made some incredible saves in net.

Chicago Fire
vs Colorado Rapids

Nobody stayed home for this action packed game. The Fire's John Velovo, Xavier Airoso and Woody Ricupero scored getting the crowd jumping out of their seats. Outstanding offense by Liam Fagen, Adrian Trotta, and Micheal Sullivan set up many scoring chances. The flawless defense of Jacob Martins, John Ware and Michael Doherty provided great protection for the goalkeepers.

Not to be outdone, the Colorado Rapids was also impressive on the offensive side of the ball with great skill being displayed by Cam Eich, Anay Gandhi, and Joao Pedro Terra leading to goals by Johann Ferrer. The defense was also showing their skills today with Adam Sulick, Seamus Lowney, Jack Melanson, Luke Messina, and Liam Crowley keeping the ball out of their zone for much of the game, while the goal keeping team of Cam Eich and Alex Booska kept this game close.

D1 Pop Warner team wins first two playoff games

The team played in the Eastern Mass Championship game at Wilmington High School on Wednesday night with results not known as of yet. (courtesy photos).

Team advances to Eastern Mass Final

The Wilmington Wildcats D1 team made it through a crazy week that began with a severe snow storm, loss of power in town, having fields closed and resorting to practicing on the Shawsheen Tennis courts, having their opening round playoff game moved to last Friday night and if they advanced, having to turn around and play 36 hours later on Sunday morning. Those elements plus the top two teams in the Greater Boston division; Cambridge and Somerville, stood in their way to try to keep the Wildcats from advancing to the Eastern Massachusetts Conference championships.

The Wildcats handled all of the obstacles and are heading to the Eastern Massachusetts championship game which will be held at Wilmington High School on Wednesday, November 8 at 6:00 PM.

The top-seeded and undefeated Wildcats had to go on the road for their first two playoff games due to a lack of an available facility in town and they came away with a 26-0 dismantling of Somerville and a 12-7 nailbiter against Cambridge.

Wilmington 26, Somerville 0

The Wildcats went into Billerica on Friday night to play on the frozen tundra of Lampson field and the team came away with a 26-0 victory over Somerville. The Wildcat defense was stifling, allowing Somerville to run less than 15 plays for the game and holding them to negative yardage. Joey Dumoulin, Mark Companeschi, Bret Chisholm and Justin Fraser lead the way with two tackles apiece while Michael DuCharme, Frankie Irizarry, Nick Kullman and Michael Daley each chipped in with a tackle. DuCharme also had one pass defensed while Chisholm also added a fumble recovery.

The Wildcats won the coin toss, elected to receive and came out of the gates blazing. Tailback John Kenney (eight carries, 114 yards, two touchdowns) took the handoff on the opening play from scrimmage and gained 27 yards to get to the Somerville 12 yard line. After a one-yard gain by Kenney on the next play, fullback Kyle Penny (six carries, 42 yards, two touchdowns) ran right up the middle for an 11 yard touchdown run that put the Wildcats up 6-0. It was Penny's first of two scores on the day.

After stopping Somerville's next drive in four plays, the Wildcat offense struck quickly. Kenney had three carries on the drive for gains of 44, 2 and 3, scoring on the third play to put the Wildcats up 12-0. The PAT was good when quarterback Andrew Sullivan ran the sneak up the middle to extend the lead to 13-0.

The second quarter began and the Wildcats put together an impressive six play drive that culminated with Penny's second touchdown of the game. The highlight of the drive was a 24-yard pass completion on a fullback screen from Sullivan to Penny. The touchdown and PAT put the Wildcats up 20-0 early in the second quarter.

After another stop of the Somerville attack, the Wildcat offense came back on the field for their fourth offensive series and scored in three plays, culminating with a 44-yard run by Kenney. This put the Wildcats up 26-0 and it is a lead they would not relinquish.

The offensive line for the Wildcats was spectacular, holding their blocks and opening up wide lanes for the backs to run through. Center David Fraser, Guards Mark Companeschi and Kyle Kenyon, Tackles Pat McAndrew, Sam Vince and Tommy Strow and Tight Ends Bailey Smith, Joey Dumoulin and Ryan Brewer were solid all game for the Wildcats.

The Wildcats came out in the second half and had to resort to just pounding the ball up the middle. The squad turned to Peter Marino, Daley and Smith who combined to run the ball 14 times for 64 hard fought yards in the second half to help secure the win.

Wilmington 12, Cambridge 7

The Wildcats faced their toughest test of the season and came away with a hard fought 12-7 victory over Cambridge. The Wildcat defense led by Kyle Penny (five tackles and four forced fumbles), Kyle Kenyon (four sacks), Michael DuCharme (three tackles and two passes defensed) and Justin Fraser (team high seven tackles) held Cambridge in check for most of the game allowing only one score when Cambridge returned a punt to the Wildcat three-yard line.

After allowing no yards to Cambridge, the Wildcats came out for their second offensive series and tailback John Kenney (21 carries, 91 yards, 1 touchdown) scored from three yards out to give the Wildcats a 6-0 lead.

On the third offensive series, the Wildcats went four and out and Cambridge returned the punt to the three yard line where they scored to take a 7-6 lead.

The rest of the first half went back and forth with both defenses playing solid and the teams went to the half with Cambridge holding on to a 7-6 lead. Aside from giving up one touchdown, the Wildcat defense was outstanding all day.

Defensive End Frankie Irizarry had three tackles and was solid all game at containing the outside attack, linebackers Mark Companeschi (four tackles), Joey Dumoulin (three tackles), Kyle Penny (five tackles) and Peter Marino (one tackle) anchored the field from sideline to sideline and cornerback Mikey Daley (one tackle) helped to shut down the Cambridge outside running game.

Defensive tackles Sam Vince and Nick Kullman also helped anchor the middle of the Wildcat defensive line and kept Cambridge from running up the middle all day.

The Wildcats took the opening kick of the second half and had an 11 play drive that did not result in points but did put Cambridge in bad field position. Quarterback Andrew Sullivan directed the offense all game and was masterful on the drive. The offensive line led by David Fraser, Companeschi, Kenyon, Tommy Strow, Dumoulin, Bailey Smith, Pat McAndrew and Ryan Brewer did a solid job blocking and opening up holes against a stout Cambridge defense.

After a defensive stand, the Wildcats struck on their second offensive series of the half. The team put together a magnificent 10 play drive that covered 35 hard fought yards and culminated with fullback Kyle Penny plunging in from the two yard line. This put the Wildcats up 12-7 and with the defense solid for the rest of the game, which became the final score.

Winchester teacher, Tara Tully, set to spin the 'Wheel of Fortune'

WINCHSTER THIRD GRADE TEACHER TARA TULLY, shown here with her class, will be on Wheel of Fortune next Monday, November 14 at 7:00 p.m.

BY RYAN LAROCHE

It's a game show that premiered 36 years ago. It features a large wheel that is spun to earn money and prizes if the contestant can solve the puzzle. It's Wheel of Fortune, and on Monday, Nov. 14, Tara Tully, third grade teacher at the Ambrose School in Winchester, will be making an appearance hoping to take home the big prize.

Tully, 26, originally tried out for the show five years ago when she was in college. It came to Boston. She didn't make it then, but thanks to getting on an e-mail list, she was given the chance to try again.

About a month ago, Tully said the Wheel of Fortune people contacted her and asked her if she'd like to try again, as the show was holding auditions again in Boston. After submitting a one-minute video clip for a new feature called "Face of the Fan," Tully was invited to Boston to try out.

She said tryouts involved taking tests and actually playing the game (apparently, contestants need to have some level of intelligence to get on the show; though watching it enough, one might wonder if that's actually true). In Boston, Tully said there were four different auditions with 100 people at each.

Growing up watching the show and even playing it today with her students, Tully hoped she would get picked. Fortunately, that's exactly what happened. (In fact, Tully said she was the first person to get picked through the new "Face of the Fan" program).

She said it helped trying out once before, because the second time she was less nervous, more confident, and as she put it, "called smarter letters."

Thanks to an understanding Ambrose School faculty, Tully was able to take two personal days and fly out to Los Angeles, California to tape the show. Funnily enough, the show that airs today isn't the same one as the show that first premiered.

Back in 1975, Chuck Woolery hosted the show and there was no Vanna White (Susan Stafford played the part of Vanna). Also, the wheel was mounted vertically, as opposed to how it looks today being horizontal. Over the years the show has moved from NBC to CBS, from day time to night time, and finally to syndication where it is now. The syndicated version began airing in 1983 hosted by Pat Sajak and featured Vanna White who came on board a few years earlier.

Tully said both White and Sajak were "so nice." She continued, "We didn't get to meet Pat (Sajak) before the show (but) he was very funny between rounds/during breaks."

She called them both genuine people "who really made the whole day very fun and special."

Tully brought her mom, dad, brother, and grandmother to the taping where they sat in the audience. In fact, the contestants also sit in the audience when their episode isn't filming. Wheel of Fortune films six shows each day and Tully called it a big procedure.

She said filming went quick. Her father, who teaches at McCall, said they filmed three episodes in real time, took a break, then filmed three more.

Besides Wheel of Fortune, Jeopardy uses the same set and crew. Actually, Jeopardy films more days out of the month than Wheel of Fortune. In fact, said Tully, all of the Wheel of Fortune contestants and Jeopardy contestants stay at the same hotel in Culver City, California.

She didn't mention, however, if she got to meet Alex Trebek, long-time Jeopardy host. But she did say she may have seen the owner of the LA Lakers while on Rodeo Drive.

While there, she got the royal treatment, as the contestants have a makeup artist, and for a teacher who has little time in the morning to get ready, Tully said it was refreshing to have someone do your makeup. Sadly, she had to do her own hair.

Though she can't say how she did (otherwise, she might be blacklisted for life), she did admit being on the show was a lot tougher than yelling at the TV from her couch. She also admitted to feeling some nervousness, but said she had a remedy for that.

While there, she remembered what her students told her before she left. "They told me to pretend I was in the classroom playing with them," she said. Whether it worked or not, viewers will have to wait until Monday to find out.

She said everyone at Ambrose School knows she's going to be on. She said they were all psyched and her students were especially anxious. However, what the youngsters have in enthusiasm, they lack in patience.

"They ask pretty much every day, and are shocked that I still can't tell them," Tully said. "They have gotten very creative about asking though. They try to connect it into what I am teaching. Other teachers are the worst, though. They are good at persuading kids to do their work, and have been trying hard to get me to squeal, but so far, I'm still silent!"

When asked if her students would be tuning in, Tully said they were so excited "they have all written notes to watch, and I had to e-mail their families as soon as I knew the exact date the show would air."

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"TOWER HEIST" A FUNNY COMEDY

"TOWER HEIST" IS A FUNNY, LAUGHABLE FILM staring Eddie Murphy and Ben Stiller as employees of the luxury high-rise the Tower who seek payback after the billionaire investor on the top floor rips them off. It's a great date night flick.

"TOWER HEIST" GRADE: ***

"Tower Heist" is a comedy that will generate laughs with anyone who has lost money recently invested in a pension fund, life savings or retirement package - in other words, there's something for everyone in this very entertaining film.

The movie focuses on a group of employees who work at a luxury apartment high-rise called "The Tower." They seek some payback after the billionaire investor who lives in the top-floor penthouse is arrested for fraud for swindling millions from investors (a la Bernie Madoff), including the staff of the Tower.

Ben Stiller plays the Tower's manager, who leads this crew of fools, playing the brains of the outfit who devises the heist, but knows nothing about how to pull it off.

He recruits Eddie Murphy, a boyhood acquaintance and petty crook, to bring some much-needed expertise to the caper. Murphy's character will remind you of the role he played in '48 Hours' with Nick Nolte.

Others in this gang include Matthew Broderick as a former Wall Street broker who went belly-up and Casey Affleck as Stiller's inept brother-in-law.

Their plan is to steal $20 million that the swindler, Alan Alda, supposedly has hidden in his penthouse.

The plan involves a rooftop swimming pool, a car supposedly once owned by acting legend Steve McQueen and the Thanksgiving Day parade.

You'll have to see the movie to learn how all these pieces of the puzzle fit together.

All the actors work well as an ensemble. Everyone portrays characters similar to those they have played in other movies, but the familiarity this generates doesn't detract from the fun.

It's good to see Murphy acting for grownups again, after so many years of appearing as the voice of animated characters in kiddie flicks. Alda remains a very good actor, and the film offers a nice comeback role for Matthew Broderick, who is finally onscreen again in what looks to be a hit film.

"Tower Heist" is a fluff film, a date night flick that offers 100 minutes of laughs and enjoyment, while also giving you an excuse to think about how you would get back at someone who has done you wrong over the years.

"PUSS IN BOOTS" GRADE: ***

"Puss in Boots" is easily one of the most refreshing sequels (it's actually more of a spinoff) to come out of Hollywood in years.

Instead of nonstop zaniness and zippy one-liners, director Chris Miller ("Shrek the Third") slows the tempo down and concentrates on telling a tale that both kids and adults will enjoy, and hums along with wit and first-rate animation, all the while offering a moral lesson.

Antonio Banderas returns as the suave and vain feline Puss, who first appeared in DreamWorks "Shrek 2," and in "Puss," Banderas has a vehicle all to his own to star in, and has a great time proving why he's one of the coolest cats on-screen.

Whether he's rolling his r's in voice-overs or manipulating a prison guard with his sad-kitty eyes, he makes Puss a funny and endearing creature. Equally responsible for bringing Puss to life is the amazing animation team. It does a marvelous job of making Puss catlike, whether he's scampering after skittering lights or adopting that pitiful look.

The screenplay gives Banderas great material to work with, as Puss carries a reputation as an outlaw, and seeks to clear his name.

To get back in the good graces of his fellow villagers, Puss reunites with his former partner Humpty Dumpty (played by Zach Galifianakis of 'The Hangover' 1 and 2), an egg with a bad past. Humpty cracks a plan that involves stealing magic beans from the foul-tempered Jack (Billy Bob Thornton) and Jill (Amy Sedaris) so he can grow a beanstalk of fabled lore.

Helping Humpty is Kitty Softpaws (Salma Hayek), a nimble cat-babe who is not only Puss' match on the dance floor, but also in tangling with the bad guys.

Where the Shrek franchise had become bogged down with pop culture gags and showbiz inside jokes, Puss looks poised to carry on with more films in the future, ready to pounce on the audience created by everyone's favorite ogre.

"PARANORMAL ACTIVITY 3" GRADE: ***

If you liked the first two "Paranormal Activity" movies, good news - 'Paranaormal Activity 3" is more of the same, using found-footage tricks to shock the audience. And shock you, they will.

The third movie in the franchise may seem a bit unnecessary at times (if you haven't seen the first two, this won't be an issue, and you don't need to have seen the previous installments to enjoy this one), but it's got enough genuinely scary moments to keep audiences on edge throughout (especially as you get toward the end).

The film includes brief cameos by Katie Featherston and Sprague Grayden, reprising their roles as Katie and Kristi, telling the audience embers who have seen the first two films that this is a prequel to a prequel. A pregnant Kristi has moved into a new home; Katie drops off a couple of boxes of belongings that include a lot of videotapes from their childhood that neither remembers watching. After what appears to be a break-in the tapes go missing.

The story then goes back to 1988, when the tapes where made. Katie and Kristi are little girls (Chloe Csengery and Jessica Tyler Brown, respectively), living in a new place with their mother Julie (Lauren Bittner) and her boyfriend Dennis (Christopher Nicholas Smith). Dennis is a videographer, so when things start going bump in the night (and day) around the house, he has the cameras and VCR tapes to try to figure out what's going on.

Like its predecessors, the movie is more clever than good, and if you feel as if you're being manipulated by the filmmakers, it's because you are. That's the fun of these movies, something you know going in. The bottom line, for me, is this: I don't scare easily at horror films (that's one of the reasons I tend to pan them), but I watched Paranormal Activity 3 in a state of high anxiety. Schulman and Joost have fun with the archetypal image of a white-sheeted costume ghost, but mostly what they're aces at is timing.

The Fair is wonderful family fun event for adults and children. Santa will be making a special appearance on Saturday from 10 - 1 and will be available for pictures during that time only.

The event will also feature homemade meals in Santa's Café, delicious treats for your sweet tooth at the Baked Goods Table, fresh produce for your Thanksgiving meal at the Produce Center, as well as stunning jewelry at the Jewelry Table.

There will be many activities for the kids too! They can play games and make crafts at The Kids Corner.

Don't forget about taking a chance on winning a prize! The raffle items this year include, an iPAD2, 26" Vizio TV, Kindle, Nintendo 3DS, and an American Girl Doll.

This is a wonderful opportunity to spend time with family and community and celebrate the holiday season, while supporting The Saint Patrick School Christmas Fair.

Oil painting demonstration at Lynnfield Art Guild Nov. 17th

The Lynnfield Art Guild (LAG) is proud to continue its monthly demonstration with an oil painting demonstration by Rockport artist John Caggiano.

The demonstration, which begins at 7 p.m. on Thursday, November 17, will be held at the Lynnfield Senior Center, 525 Salem Street, with doors opening at 6:45 p.m. and refreshments served.

Born in Brooklyn, New York, Mr. Caggiano received a BA with honors from Brooklyn College and an MFA with honors from the Pratt Institute.

His education was supplemented by courses at the Brooklyn Museum and The Studio and Forum of Stage Design in New York.

His love of nature drew him to New England where he utilizes the unique quality of Cape Ann's light in his colorful impressionistic paintings.

From his adopted home of Rockport, he also travels extensively in the United States and abroad painting the local scenes. He is a member of many art organizations, and has served as president of the Rockport Art Association where he remains on the Board of Governors. He maintains a gallery on Main Street and a studio on Bearskin Neck, Rockport.

The public is invited to attend this and all monthly LAG demonstrations, which offer a great opportunity to meet other area artists.

The LAG has over 200 members in art, crafts and photography from over 25 area communities. Membership includes the privilege of participating in the winter (Saturday, December 10th) and spring annual shows.

For further information, please call 781-334-6765.

PEACE, MARCHING AND 'CHIPS' AHOY

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

'RESPOND'ING IN STONEHAM

"Police Chief Richard Bongiorno has announced that the Town of Stoneham is the recipient of a $176,735 grant from the United States Department of Justice, Office on Violence Against Women," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"The funds were awarded through the Fiscal Year 2011 Grant to Encourage Arrest Policies and Enforcement of Protection Orders Program. In March, Lieutenant James McIntyre, the police department's grant administrator, submitted a grant proposal to the Office on Violence Against Women outlining the Town's current limitations relating to domestic violence services, as well as services that could be provided by partnering with local social service agencies and the Middlesex District Attorney's Office. After a six-month review, the Town received notice ... that the grant proposal was accepted and will be federally funded for the next two years.

"Partnering with the Town on this project is the Stoneham Alliance Against Violence, RESPOND, Inc., Mystic Valley Elder Services, and the Middlesex District Attorney's Office.

"Highlights of the grant proposal include funding a part-time domestic violence victim assistant working at the Stoneham Police Department responsible for follow-up with victims and coordinating support groups; creation of a high risk assessment team through collaboration with domestic violence service organizations to more effectively identify and respond to violent crimes, such as sexual assault and dating violence; funding for RESPOND's 24-hour victim crisis hotline; and provide specialized training to police department personnel for responding to domestic violence involving intimate partner homicides, strangulation indicators, stalking and criminal harassment.

..."Since January 2011, the Stoneham Police Department has responded to over 180 calls for service involving domestic violence. Of these calls, three males were arrested for attempted murder after trying to strangle their victim. Another male was arrested after pointing a handgun at a victim and discharging it out a car window"

If you or someone you know has been the victim of domestic violence, please contact the Stoneham Police Department's Domestic Violence Victim Assistant at 781-438-1215, extension 3106. If you need immediate help, call 9-1-1.

'SKILLS AND STRENGTH' IN READING

"Tara Zerfas and Elaina Druid of Reading Memorial High School have been selected to be members of the 2012 U.S. Army All-American Marching Band," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Zerfas and Druid will join an elite group of musicians who will perform during halftime of the U.S. Army All-American Bowl at the Alamodome in San Antonio, Texas, and will be presented by American Family Insurance.

"'The U.S. Army has a distinguished musical history with numerous bands and musical acts still performing around the world today,' said John Myers, Director of Strategic Communications, Marketing and Outreach, U.S. Army Accessions Command. 'The skills and strengths necessary to be a successful band member are mirrored in Army Strong Soldiers. Only the strongest wear the Army colors, which is why we are proud to honor all of our 2012 U.S. Army All-American Band members and congratulate each of them on their selection.'

"The U.S. Army All-American Marching Band recognizes the top 125 high school senior marching musicians and color guard members from across the country, showcasing their talents during the largest celebration of high school football in America, the U.S. Army All-American Bowl, televised live on NBC at 1:00 p.m. EST on Saturday, January 7, 2012...."

COMMITTED TO WILMINGTON

"... the Friendship Lodge of the Wilmington branch of the Freemasons held an open house for any member of the community wishing to explore the organization," notes the Wilmington "Town Crier."

"They held various activities for children including pumpkin painting and games—and handed out informational pamphlets for interested people. Other lodges held similar events in order to familiarize the public with Freemasonry across the state ...

Dominic Fiumara, the Master of the Friendship Lodge, felt the day was successful.

Founded in 1901 and committed to the community, The Lodge is active in Wilmington, sponsoring a variety of service programs such as a scholarship, RAMP, which provides handicap ramps to buildings on loan; and HELP, which provides hospital equipment to those in need. It also assists the Wilmington Police with CHIP, the Childhood Identification Program where volunteers from the organization collect teeth molds, DNA samples, fingerprints, and video records, which are given to families. Members also collect food for the food pantry.

"About the Towns" covers recent events in the 10-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper or look on line for up-to-date information about your city or town.

At 62 I feel much better than I did 10 years ago and can do much more.

BEFORE

AFTER

It's all about the trainers and managers! They've been my biggest incentive. My flexibility and energy levels have increased tremendously. The exercise sessions have done much more for my muscles and joints than any physical therapy session. At 62 I feel much better than what I did 10 years ago and can do much more. For me it has been more about energy and ability to move than inches and pounds.

•MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

UCLA holds the NCAA Division 1 Men's Basketball record for consecutive wins and Oklahoma owns the record for most consecutive NCAA Division 1 Football wins. Name the University that had the distinction of ending both of those streaks.

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•JUNIOR FORWARD JULIA DONIGIAN (WAKEFIELD, MASS.) struck the lone River Hawk tally as the club suffered a 2-1 loss to Southern New Hampshire in the opening round of the Northeast-10 Women's Soccer Championship in North Andover.

"Southern New Hampshire played well and wanted it more," said head coach Elie Monteiro. "All the credit today goes to them."

The Penmen grabbed the match's first lead in the ninth minute off the foot of Emily Donahue (Bristol, R.I.). Ariel Teixeira (Warren, R.I.) tapped the ball over to Donahue who ripped a shot from 30 yards out that drifted over the head of sophomore goalkeeper Jill Carlson (Lexington, Mass.).

The River Hawks leveled the score at 18:47 as Donigian knocked in a loose rebound for her third goal of the year. Freshman Brittany Russo (Danvers, Mass.) carried down the far wing and hit goalkeeper Maggie Weldon (Manchester, N.H.) with a shot that was saved, but bounced free into the box. Donigian quickly put the ball into the mesh before Weldon could recover her footing, knotting the score at 1-1.

Despite an even pace of play, Southern New Hampshire squeezed another shot through in the 42nd minute to take a 2-1 lead heading into the half. Teixeira carried into the box, dribbled around a defender and uncorked a shot from the left side that found its way past Carlson.

The second half played to a draw with UMass Lowell's best chance to score coming in the 86th minute. Russo collected the ball in the box, shook a defender and put a shot on net that Weldon was in perfect position to save.

Unwilling to surrender, the River Hawks drew a corner in the match's final moments, hastily getting off the kick as time expired.

UMass Lowell's Carlson finished with two saves as she fell to 6-4-1 on the year. The Penmen's Weldon picked up two saves as well, improving to 4-4-1. The River Hawks were outshot 11-7, but out-cornered Southern New Hampshire, 4-1.

•The following teen athletes at Austin Preparatory School in Reading received top honors last night during the Fall Athletic Award Ceremonies:

WES VIOLA OF BURLINGTON, a junior, received the Boys Cross Country MVP award and was named a Catholic Central League All Star. He was presented with his awards by by Head Coach Brad Harkins and Assistant Coach Matt Spano.

MURIEL BAILLIE OF READING, a freshman, received the Girls Cross Country Coaches Award from Head Coach Brad Harkins and Assistant Coach Matt Spano.

JASON BUSCH OF READING, a freshman, received the Freshman Football Award of Excellence from Head Coach Bill Maradei.

JOHN HARTY OF READING, a senior, received the Golf Award of Excellence from Head Coach Paul Mayo.

DAN IPPOLITO OF READING, a junior, received the Boys Soccer Coaches Award from Head Coach Vincent Musto. He also served as a team captain this season.

ANTHONY MANDILE OF READING, a junior, was named a Catholic Central League Golf All Star. He received his award from Head Coach Paul Mayo.

ELIZABETH LOMBARDO OF WAKEFIELD, sophomore, received the Girls Cross Country Most Improved Player award from Head Coach Brad Harkins and Assistant Coach Matt Spano.

ANNA WORTMAN OF WAKEFIELD, a junior, received the Cheerleading Coaches Award from Head Coach Margaret Robertson.

•Need some help with the trivia question? The school has a lot of fight in it.

•No. 2 UMass Lowell set the tone with two goals in the first two minutes to score a 6-1 victory over No. 3 American International College this past Saturday in the NCAA Division II Field Hockey Tournament first round at Cushing Field.

"We came into this season expecting to do some good things and we've done some great things," said head coach Shannon Hlebichuk. "It's good to see this young group to get to the Final Four. We had a couple of hiccups along the way, but that's typical of a program. We learned from our wins and we learned from our losses. Combining all those things got us to the Final Four this year."

UMass Lowell, which captured the 2010 NCAA Championship, had six goals from six different players, led by one goal and one assist from junior D Sarah Wilcox (Old Town, Maine) and sophomore F Ali Ferraro (Kingston, N.Y.). SOPHOMORE F RACHEL MCCARTHY (READING, MASS.) set up three goals.

The River Hawks wasted little time as Wilcox and freshman F Bianca Jones (Watertown, Mass.) each scored goals in the first two minutes. McCarthy uncorked a corner from Jones at the top of the circle, saved by AIC goalkeeper Kim Steiner, but Wilcox was there to tuck in the rebound.

A minute later, McCarthy's attempt was deflected high in the air, but Jones tipped it home from the right of the cage.

The Yellow Jackets, however, responded in the 10th minute when junior M Lisa Duckles broke down the right side and centered to junior F Mackenzie Kewley, who shot under sophomore GK Melanie Hopkins (Harwich, Mass.) to cut the lead in half.

"I think we sat back for a minute and they put a ball in," said Hlebichuk. "It's always a game, regardless if it's 2-0 or 3-0. That first goal puts any team back in it. We haven't been ahead 2-0 in a long time, so we had to remember what to do with a lead."

Jones and McCarthy then set up a goal by Kayla Littig (Carver, Mass.) in the 13th minute for a 3-1 lead. Jones sent a penalty corner to McCarthy, who sent a blast from the top of the circle, which Littig tipped home.

Ferraro capped the scoring for the half in the 32nd minute when she tipped home a shot by Wilcox following a corner.

UMass Lowell maintained the run of play in the second half and made it 5-1 in the 44th minute. Sophomore M Janelle DeCamillis (Littleton, Mass.) sent a cross to Ferraro in the middle, whose shot was blocked to Auld, who tucked home outside the left post.

Junior D Emily Painten (Walpole, Mass.) completed the scoring in the 57th, similar to UMass Lowell's first and third goals. Following a corner by Ferraro, McCarthy's attempt from the top of the circle was blocked, but Painten was there for the finish.

Tully

the third grade teacher, her students have already been planning how she should spend all the money they think she won. For her sake, she better have won big.

When she found out, Tully called her mom to tell her the good news. In actuality, she squealed to her mom the good news. She said her mom was so confused, she asked if everything was all right. Eventually, she calmed down enough so her mom could understand her and they packed up the family and headed to LA.

For those who have never seen the show, contestants spin a wheel, earning money and prizes if they can guess a letter that fits in a puzzle. He or she wins the money and prizes if they solve the puzzle. At the end of the show, the person with the most money makes it to the final round where that person can win even more money and prizes.

Not the most complicated show on TV, but one that's had a long shelf life.

Wheel of Fortune is the longest running syndicated game show, airing over 5,000 episodes. In 2008, TV Guide named it the "top-rated syndicated series."

And, finally, since many readers will want to know this important piece of information, Tully had this to say about Vanna: "(She) came to greet all the contestants before the show. She came in jeans, a T-shirt, and no make-up. She was gorgeous! She is stunningly beautiful in real life and a sweet person, as well. She wished everyone good luck and was really encouraging."

Tewksbury School Committee says Yes to fees

TEWKSBURY - Representatives from the Tewksbury Boys' Basketball League appeared at the school committee meeting last Wednesday to air grievances on the soon-to-be enacted facilities fee. Each player would be required to pay, through the league, an annual fee of $15.00 before the league would be granted permission to use school gyms. The School Committee said the fee was proposed to aid in upkeep costs, as well as pay for utility fees, which have increased. It also would make the school committee policy in synch with the rest of Tewksbury's policies.

Ken Miano, the organization's director, addressed the School Committee, urging members to reconsider a vote on the fee. He said he had spent time polling other towns that had enacted similar fees. He found participant reaction to be sour.

He suggested the committee consider alternative sources of funding, such as allowing AAU teams to rent the new high school gymnasium.

He also said he could assist in funding the various costs.

"I have offered time and time again to put money in the gyms," he said.

He said he appreciated the hard work that went into the development in the policy, as well as understanding the need for it to be updated—other areas of the policy included additions of CORI checks.

But he would not accept the fee. He asked the committee to pass the rest of the policy while tabling the fee. He said Tewksbury Boys' Basketball would be a willing partner with the school committee. He hoped that both organizations could arrive at a consensus.

"We're here, we want to be a partner, and we don't think the fee is the right thing to do," he said.

Later, committee members reiterated the need for the policy, stating that it had to be updated.

"What we came to conclude was that our existing policy was very vague and outdated," committee member Dennis Francis said. He said consistency with the town policy was of utmost importance. He added that the money will strictly be used to pay for gym costs.

"It's a pretty concise, strong policy that had a lot of input from the community," said committee member Brian Dick, who participated in the subcommittee that researched the creation of the policy.

Joseph Russell, the vice chair, said he understood the concern, but he also stressed the committee's tight budget situation. The schools, he said, cannot pay for the various expenses on their own.

"This town does not have the tax base to support everybody," he said.

He said that, in better economic times, he would be opposed to such a fee. He said he'd like to, eventually, see them go.

Krissy Polomeno, the chair of the committee, agreed, throwing her support behind the fee and the committee. She, too, stressed its need.

The policy went to a vote, and it passed unanimously.

Miano said he was disappointed.

"We were here on behalf of our parents," he said.

Francis, after the meeting, said, "I think that whenever you do a policy, it's hard." But, again, he stressed the importance of consistency. He added that residents thought it was fair.

"We just try to have a consistent, in-depth policy," he said.

Home From S-8

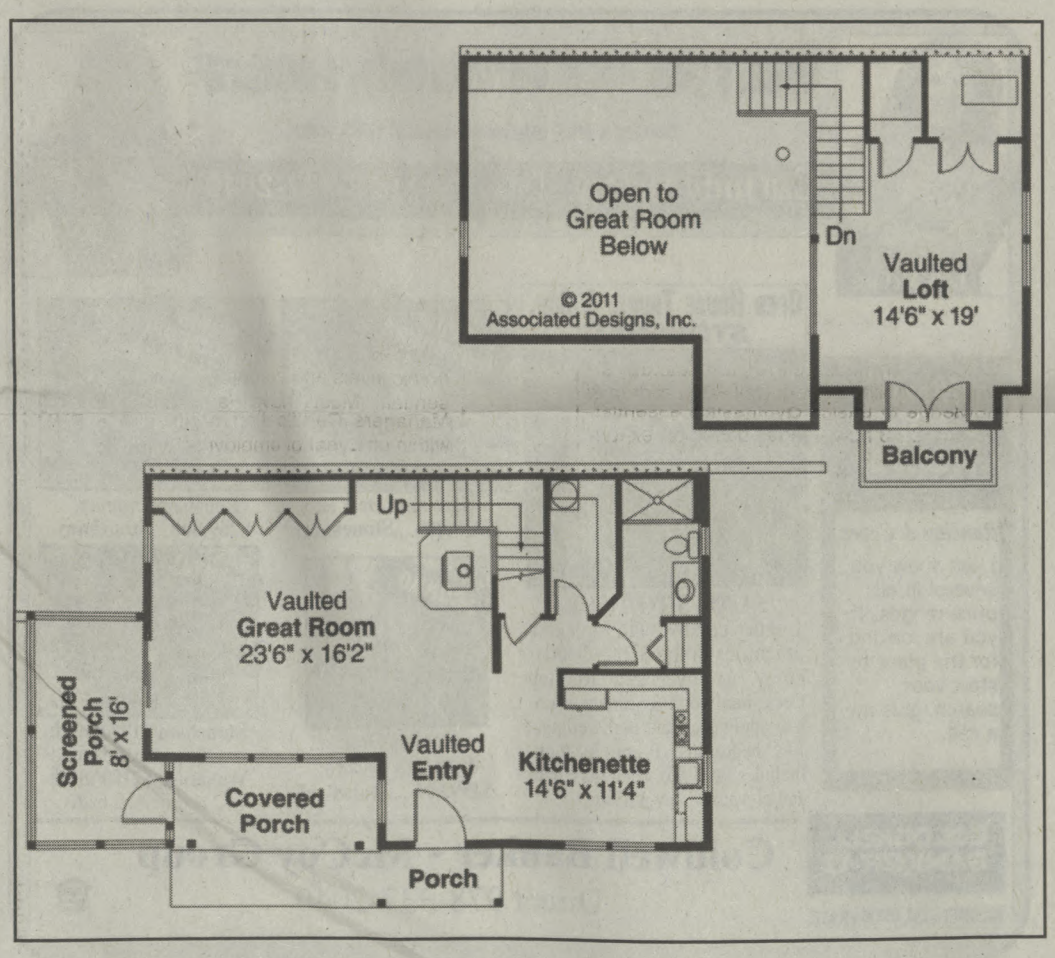

and living room through a transom and clerestory windows. This room has a surprisingly spacious feel. The ceiling line rises up from the front, peaks, then slopes down at the rear. Even the lowest parts of the ceiling are several feet higher than average.

Natural heat emanates from a clean-burning, low maintenance pellet stove that nestles into a brick lined alcove by the stairs. The built-in cabinet that fills most of the rear wall has a display area on top. This could serve as shelving for books and games, while housing a home entertainment center as well.

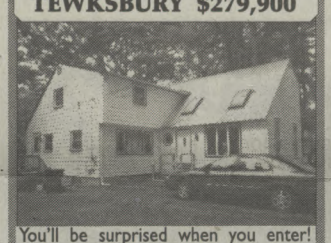

Sliders on the left access a screened porch, ideal for bug-free outdoor meals.

The kitchenette is directly to the right of the entry. Its ceiling is lower, but otherwise this space is totally open to the great room. Cupboards, counters and appliances rim two walls. Twin windows fill half of the third, creating a delightful view from the kitchen table.

A combination bathroom/utility room, and a storage room fill out the rest of the Northlake's main floor. Washer and dryer are stacked, to maximize space usage. Additional storage is also available under the stairs. Double doors in the vaulted loft upstairs open onto a front-facing balcony with a wooden handrail.

Simpler is better in the nifty Northlake

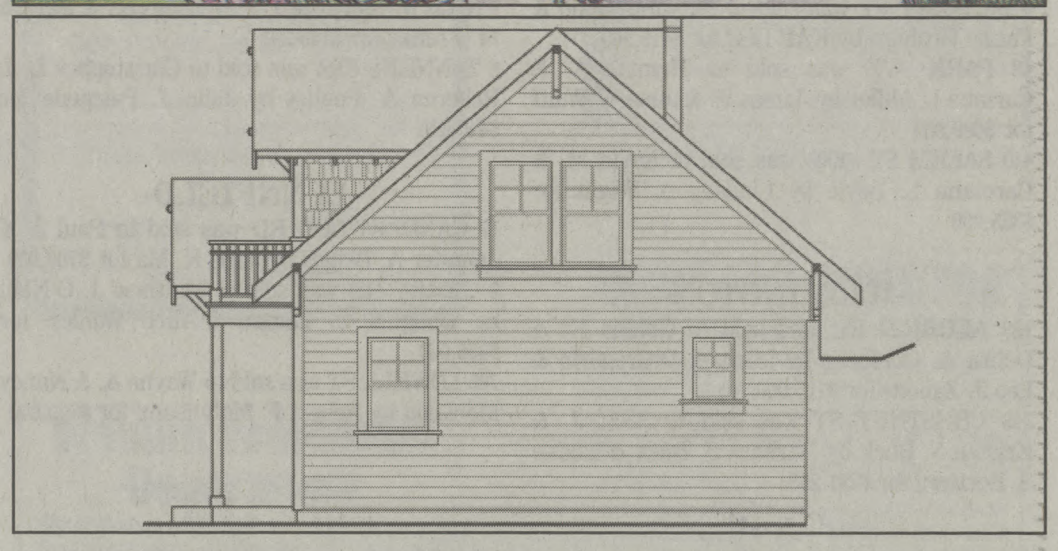

The Northlake is a minimalist's dream. This cozy vacation cottage would be at home on a lake, ocean beach, or tucked into a mountain grove.

Slender wooden posts support a gabled entry porch, while perennially charming craftsman-style windows sparkle across the front. Cedar shingles fill the two front-facing gable ends, both of which are accented by decorative supports.

Abundant natural light spills into the vaulted entry

November 3, 2011

Dear friends and supporters,

I grew up in Wilmington and can't imagine a better community to have spent my youth. When it came time for me and my wife to choose a home, Wilmington was our first choice.

I then spent several years enjoying the community - my son attended Wilmington public schools and played youth sports. I'll never forget his first little league game at Rotary Park; a baseball field that held such great memories for me. Our family enjoyed the Fun on the Fourth festivities, the Tree Lighting ceremonies, and so many other events that make Wilmington so special.

It wasn't until I began writing for the Town Crier, however, that I became aware of the numerous volunteers who work so hard to make this community special. I began to ask myself what I could give back to my home-town. I found the Wilmington Rotary Club, an organization devoted to the motto, "Service Above Self."

Rotary is a service organization made up of community business leaders. Our membership is made up of attorneys, dentists, doctors, bankers, builders, journalists, personal trainers, tradesmen, retirees, and even a comedian.

Through our annual Rotary Trivia Night, Rib-Off, Fourth of July Dinner on the Common, and many other service projects, the Rotary Club raises funds for a myriad of causes. Over the years, for instance, Wilmington Rotary has awarded more than $400,000 in scholarships to Wilmington's youth. Each year the club sponsors a Christmas program that ensures children will not endure a holiday without presents under the tree. We have donated several 'SmartBoards' to the Wilmington Public Schools and have donated to other civic-minded organizations in town. This past fall, the Club held its first outside Movie at Rotary Park, which featured E.T. on a giant screen to the delight of children of all ages.

On Friday, November 18, the Wilmington Rotary Club is holding its annual Rotary Auction at the Wilmington Knights of Columbus Hall. Auction viewing begins at 6:00 p.m. and the bidding begins at 7:00 p.m.

Everyone is invited to join us for this fun-filled night featuring a cash bar, complimentary buffet sponsored by Winchester Hospital, and many exciting auction items. There is no admission price, and you may just come across the deal of a lifetime.

The evening culminates in our $10,000 raffle. A few tickets are still available - contact a Rotarian to purchase a ticket.

And, for the first time, the Club is featuring an all-day Harley-Davidson giveway. For just $10 a try, or three tries for $25, you can punch in a four-digit code. Chances for the Harley begin at noon at the Knights of Columbus Hall and will go until the end of the auction. Whoever punches in the correct code will be going home with a 2012 Harley Fat Boy.

Rotarians work hard to improve the community, but we also have an awful lot of fun. The Wilmington Rotary Club is a healthy, vibrant service organization, and we're always looking for new members.

Sincerely,
Stephen P. Bjork, President
Wilmington Rotary Club

SCHOLARSHIP FUND TRUST

POST OFFICE BOX 73
WILMINGTON, MASSACHUSETTS 01887

November 3, 2011

Dear Friends of the Wilmington Rotary Club:

On behalf of the Wilmington Rotary Club Scholarship Fund Trust, and the entire membership of the Wilmington Rotary Club, I would like to thank each and every one of you for your continued support of the Wilmington Rotary Club Scholarship Fund and the Wilmington Rotary Club charities.

I am proud to report that your support of the Wilmington Rotary Club and, in particular, your support of our annual auction, has allowed the Wilmington Rotary Club Scholarship Fund Trust to distribute over $420,000.00 in scholarship funds since 1988. These scholarships, which have all been distributed to Wilmington residents, have helped fund the college educations of more than 170 students.

As the Chairman of the Rotary Club Scholarship Fund Trust, I would like to extend my best wishes to all of this year's recipients as they begin their college careers. I also look forward to many more successful years of Wilmington Rotary Club Scholarships.

In closing, I would ask each and every one of you to continue your unwavering support of the Wilmington Rotary Club through your participation in our annual auction. The success of our Club depends on the continued support and generosity of people like you. Thank you again.

Very truly yours,

Robert G. Peterson, Chairman

Harley-Davidson giveaway

Punch in the right code and ride it home

WILMINGTON – The Wilmington Rotary Club will be looking to give away a 2012 Harley-Davidson 'Fat Boy' on Friday, November 18.

The brand new bike will be delivered by noon on November 18 to the Wilmington Knights of Columbus Hall, located behind St. Thomas' Church at 126 Middlesex Avenue in Wilmington.

"We want to thank Kelly's House of Harley-Davidson, located in Billerica, for supplying us with the motorcycle," said Wilmington Rotary Club President Stephen Bjork, "but we don't want them taking it back at the end of the night – we want someone to ride it away."

Anyone interested in being the proud owner of this iconic machine are encouraged to come by the Knights of Columbus Hall, beginning at noon and continuing – until someone wins - right up to the Rotary Club's Annual Auction, which takes place that night in the K of C Hall. Step up and punch in a four-digit code on the keypad. If you pick the correct code, the box will unlock and the Harley's ignition key will be all yours.

Each guess will cost just $10, or three tries for $25.

A brand new 2012 Harley Davidson Fat boy for $10? How can you beat that?

And, after you've claimed your Harley, stick around for the Rotary Club's Annual Auction. Who knows? There might be a great deal on a motorcycle helmet and leathers. There will definitely be great deals to be had on numerous items, including sports tickets, electronics, gourmet pizza parties, a visit from Santa, and too much more to list.

As always, admission is free and there will be a complimentary buffet and a cash bar. Who will be this year's 'guest auctioneers'? Come on by and find out.

"People love the auction," said Bjork. "Every year, people walk away with some fantastic deals. And there are often friendly bidding wars over some of the more unique items. All-in-all, it's just a great night out."

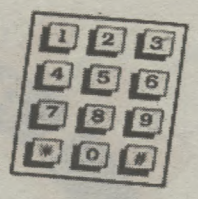

Proceeds from the Harley giveaway and the auction will go toward scholarships to Wilmington students, improvements Rotary Park, Rotary charities, donations to charitable organizations, and also the Wilmington Public School district, which has received SMARTBoards from the Rotary Club over the past several years.

For more information on the auction and on the Wilmington Rotary Club, visit www.wilmingtonrotary.org.
